PICNIC AND DANCE IN AID OF CHURCH FUND

A picnic and dance is to be held at Willow Dale on Labor day, the proceeds of which are to go to St. Joseph's Lithuanian church to aid in swelling the church fund. Extensive repairs are being made in the church at present, which will amount to $2500, and it is hoped that a goodly sum will be realized at the event to be held on the holiday. Music for the dance will be furnished by a good orchestra and all who attend the affair are assured a pleasant afternoon and evening.

THE LOWELL BOYS' CLUB

Organization in Dutton Street

Will Enter its 23rd Season

on Tuesday

The Lowell Boys' Club, in Dutton Street, will enter upon its 23rd season next Tuesday evening when the doors of this popular and non-sectarian rendezvous of the city's youth, open for the fall and winter periods of activity. The club, organized in 1900 and incorporated under the laws of the commonwealth, will provide enjoyment for thousands of the city's youth, and with all the rooms newly-painted and renovated, the coming season bids fair to out-do any of its predecessors. And this is saying a great deal when it is taken into consideration that over 145,000 boys were administered to last year, for according to the official records prepared by Major Walter R. Jeyes, superintendent of the club, provisions were made for this number during the past season. The superintendent's records show also that 257 regulation basketball games were played on the modern court in the club in 1922-23; 67,000 boys attended the moving picture shows; 14,000 used the billiard and pool tables; entertainment was obtained for 82, and the club entertained 1206 visitors.

MAJOR WALTER R. JEYES

The present membership of the organization averages between 1500 and 1600 and comprises, by actual count, 27 nationalities. Every conceivable form of athletic paraphernalia, including basketball equipment, running track, swimming pool, hot and cold water showers, a reading room containing over 3000 volumes of boys' books, periodicals and magazines, is housed in the Dutton Street structures. Three moving picture machines furnish entertainment one night each week, while social gatherings are featured at various times during the season. Musical entertainment is furnished by club talent and by a phonograph, with a cabinet containing several hundred records.

The fees for enrollment vary between five and 25 cents. For the coming season the clubhouse will be open all day on evenings when there is no school, while on school days, the doors will remain open from the close of school hours in the afternoon until 5 o'clock in the evening. At present Maj. Jeyes is preparing a lengthy list of events for the coming season.

THE KIMBALL SCHOOL WILL OPEN TUESDAY

Next Tuesday The Kimball school of this city begins its sixty-fifth school year. Founded in 1859, before the Civil war, it is one of the oldest private commercial schools in this country.

Its courses of study in the secretarial and accounting field are designed to give young men and women a training which will enable them to earn their own way in life in the course of one school year. This is accomplished by eliminating all studies which are not intimately connected with commercial work, and also by the tutorial method, of teaching whereby each pupil advances individually and covers as much ground each day as he can with the personal assistance of the instructors. This method of teaching allows an apt pupil to progress as fast as his ability will permit; likewise a slower pupil is encouraged and assisted in such a way that unusual progress is made. This school has acquired much publicity the past few years on account of the success of its pupils in various typewriting contests. For three years in succession the Kimball school representatives won the trophies of the N. E. Business College association, which is composed of thirty of the leading New England Business colleges. The Lowell school has never been beaten in a contest by any Boston school or college.

Principal E. R. Kimball reports that enrollments for the fall term, which begins on September 4, are much larger than usual. Evening courses will be resumed on September 10.

NOT A POLICY OF AGGRESSION

Sec. Hughes Discusses Monroe Doctrine Before American Bar Association
Declares Doctrine Not Policy of Aggression—It is Policy of Self-Defense

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Aug. 31.—The Monroe Doctrine was defined here last night by Secretary Hughes as embodying a policy vital to national safety, intended to no just interest in Latin America or elsewhere, and imposing no barrier to wider international cooperation in the promotion of peace and understanding.

Speaking before the American Bar Association, the secretary declared that while the doctrine in no way established a "protection" over other American republics, American rights and obligations not specifically outlined by Monroe in his famous message had sometimes made intervention in some Latin American states an absolute necessity. He recalled that the right to intervene in Cuba is a matter of record in the treaty of 1901, although he added that this United States would rather, if possible, continue in its present role of "friendly adviser."

"Taking the doctrine as it has been and as it is intended to remain," said Mr. Hughes, "I desire to comment upon certain points, which, as I believe, deserve special emphasis at this time."

"First, The Monroe Doctrine is not a policy of aggression; it is a policy of self-defense. It was asserted at a time when the danger of foreign aggression in this hemisphere was very real, when the new American states had not yet established national life, and we were menaced by threats of old world powers directed against republican institutions. But the achievements of the century have not altered the scope of the doctrine or changed its basis. It still remains an assertion of the principle of national security. As such, it is obviously not exclusive."

"Second, As the policy embodied in the Monroe Doctrine is distinctively the policy of the United States, it serves to itself its definition, interpretation, and application. This government has welcomed the recognition by other governments of the fact and soundness of this policy and of the appropriateness of its application from time to time.

"But the United States has not been disposed to enter into engagements which would have the effect of submitting to any other power or to any concert of powers the determination either of the occasions upon which the principles of the Monroe Doctrine shall be invoked or of the measures that shall be taken in giving it effect. As President Wilson observed, 'The Monroe Doctrine was proclaimed by the United States on her own authority. It always has been maintained and always will be maintained upon her own responsibility.'"

"This implies neither suspicion nor estrangement. It simply means that the United States is asserting a separate action in the exercise of this right. It must have an unhampered discretion."

"Third, The policy of the Monroe Doctrine does not infringe upon the independence and sovereignty of other American states. 'Non-interference' upon this point is the only disturbing incident in our relations with Latin American states. The declaration of our purpose to oppose what is inimical to our safety does not imply an attempt to establish a protectorate by any one of the great nations of the world. It is a position to conduct on the part of any nation which would aim at the establishment of a protectorate."

"I utterly disclaim, as unwarranted, the observations which occasionally have been made implying a claim on our part to superintend the affairs of our sister republics, to assert an over-harshness, to consider the spread of our authority beyond our own domain as the aim of our policy, and to make our power the test of right in this hemisphere. I oppose all such misconceptions and unsound assertions or intimations. They do not express our national purpose; they belie our sincere friendship; they are false to the fundamental principles of our institutions and of our foreign policy which has sought to reflect, with rare exceptions, the ideals of liberty. They menace us by stimulating a distrust which has no real foundation. They find no sanction whatever in the Monroe Doctrine. There is room in this hemisphere, without danger of collision, for the complete recognition of that doctrine and the independent sovereignty of the Latin American republics."

"Fourth, There are, indeed, modern

conditions and recent events which can not fail to engage our attention. We have grown rich and powerful, but we have not outgrown the necessity, in justice to ourselves and without injury to others, of safeguarding our future peace and security. By building the Panama canal we have not only established a new and convenient highway of commerce but we have created exigencies and new conditions of strategy and defense. It is for us to protect that highway. It is also necessary for us at some time to build another canal between the Atlantic and the Pacific oceans and to protect that. I believe that the sentiment of the American people is practically unanimous that in the interest of our national safety we could not yield to any foreign power the control of the Panama canal, or the approaches to it, or the obtaining of any position which would interfere with our right of protection or would menace the freedom of our communications.

"Our attitude is one of independence, not of isolation. Our people are still intent upon obtaining from participation in the political strife of Europe. They are not disposed to commit this government in advance to the use of its power in foreign contingencies, preferring to reserve freedom of action in the confidence of our ability and readiness to respond to every future call of duty. They have no desire to put their power in pledge, but they do not shrink co-operation with other nations whenever there is a sound basis for it and a consciousness of community of interest, and aim co-operation is not dictation, and it is not partnership. In our part, it must be the co-operation of a free people drawing their strength from many cherished policy, inimical to no just interest and deemed to be vitally related to our own safety and to the peaceful progress of the people of this hemisphere."

Four Years of Stomach Trouble Relieved by Three Bottles of O'Brien's
Prominent Medford Man Indorses Old Stomach Remedy

That prominent men do not hesitate to testify to the benefits to be derived from a high-grade article is readily demonstrated here. James Norton, Medford, Mass., widely known in this town, writes this about O'Brien's for Dyspepsia:

"It gives me great pleasure to state my experience with O'Brien's for Dyspepsia. I have been troubled for four years with a case of indigestion, and have tried several different remedies, but they were of no use. Someone suggested that I try O'Brien's. I have tried three bottles and am thoroughly well again."

Four years of suffering relieved by three bottles of O'Brien's! Isn't that encouraging? Wouldn't your case respond, too? If you have stomach trouble of any kind—Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Heartburn, Colic, Ulcerated Stomach, Gastritis, Nausea, or other stomach disorders—we recommend O'Brien's—O'Brien's the preparation compounded after the prescription of a Massachusetts doctor. Ever since 1893 this fine old formula has been bringing health and happiness to those made miserable by a disordered stomach.

Your health is at stake—why should you lose your normal vigor? Why should you fail to enjoy meals? Why should you suffer through sleepless nights or endure that lousy feeling? Especially when all you need do is take O'Brien's at risk to you. If it does not benefit you, your money will be refunded in accordance with the money-back guarantee that goes with each bottle. Vegetable Tonic is Nature's Corrective For Constipation
Temporary relief and lasting relief from constipation are two entirely different things. And how can you expect lasting relief from harsh cathartics that pain and gripe you, injure the delicate intestines and often leave you more constipated than ever when the harsh drug effect wears off?
Get quick, lasting relief? Dr. H. S. Thatcher, the noted stomach specialist, perfected a delicious vegetable tonic that is now being used in the treatment of constipation among adults and children, because it is well suited to the sensitive stomach and delicate intestines, and helps you strengthen them so that your bowels move gently, naturally and thoroughly without the need of cathartics and purgatives.
This nourishing tonic, known as Dr. Thatcher's Liver and Blood Syrup, will help you increase appetite, improve digestion, soothe and tone the nerves, wake up the sluggish liver and send purer, healthier blood coursing through your veins. It will quickly help you clear up your skin, round out the sunken lines of your face, work and form, and revive that delightful feeling of strength, energy and "zip."
Try a delicious taste, portion of Dr. Thatcher's Liver and Blood Syrup after the next few meals. Notice the quick difference in the way you eat, sleep, look and feel. The cost is only a trifle and your money will be returned if for any reason you are not satisfied. Dr. Thatcher's Liver and Blood Syrup may now be obtained at all druggists, drug stores, and Crutcher's Drug Store, A. W. Down & Co. and Noonan's drug store—ADV.

OUR BOARDING HOUSE

THE MAJOR MEDITATES ON A NERVE WRACKING SHOT—

AMUSEMENT NOTES

B. F. KRITH'S THEATRE

Bob Hall, who mixes things up with great speed during the show at the B. F. Krith's theatre, this week, has one song which stands out pre-eminently in his repertoire. It is "Sunshine," and to the melody he sets words on a variety of subjects. Hall is an extemporaneous comedian and maker of songs, and he is one of the week's big favorites. Murray Kissen & Co. in "The Barber of Seville," give much of fun, and a lot of melody. Hogue & Marshall have an act of singing and dancing, the male member being the singer, while Miss Blaine does a very neat blackface act.

Oakes & De Lour are cyclonic dancers, and Betty Washington, violinist, charms as much by her personality as with her playing. The Nathano Bros. are com-edy roller skaters. "Masters of Men," by superb cast, concludes the bill.

RIALTO THEATRE

The Rialto's program for tonight only includes Charles Ray in "Scrap Iron," and Ralph Connor's "The Sky Pilot," with Colleen Moore, Joan Bow-ers and David Butler.

Tomorrow's change of program brings an excellent bill of pictures. Marshall Neilan's great newspaper story, "Go and Get It," will be shown, together with a film version of Jack London's well known sea story, "The Sea Wolf." Most everyone has seen or heard about "Go and Get It." It is a picture, once seen, will never be forgotten. A story dealing with newspaper life is always exciting, but "Go and Get It" is second to none. Its cast includes: Wesley Barry, Pat O'Malley, Agnes Ayers, Noah Beery, J. Barney Sherry, Walter Long and Billie Mckenna, the latter having the role of a huge ap-er-dick London's "The Sea Wolf" is as well known a book as "Go and Get It" is a picture. It is probably one of the most widely read novels in the world. In the film version, it does not lose any of its violence, and if anything is more impressive. Wallace Beery has the title role.

THE STRAND

"The Isle of Lost Ships" with Milton Sills, Anna Q. Nilsson, Frank Campeau and others, is the feature on the Strand program during the week-end. If you are partial to sea stories, then don't miss this one. The second contribution is John Gilbert in "The Madness of Youth." The star is seen in the role of a crook and he treats it with the same cleverness and artistry of his former characterizations. The comedy and Weekly help to make up a most commendable program.

MERRIMACK SQ. THEATRE

Seldom has there been such a double bill of entertainment shown in this city as is now playing at Lowell's shrine of the silent drama.

Viola Dana has added new laurels in her character portrayal of Martha, in "A Noise in the Street." From a Main street looker-on to a big city hero is some racket, but, the noise you'll hear is shrieks of delight at this home-town tale.

"The Fog" has also won considerable comment. This is a drama of fate or destiny, call it what you will. It tells a story so true to life that the specta-tor is held spellbound to the end. The rest of the program retains the quali-ty grade usual at the Merrimack Square.

CONCEIVES MOVIE PLOTS WORKING IN KITCHEN

By N. E. A. Service
WICHITA FALLS, Tex., Aug. 31.—Bus boy by day—scenario writer at night!

That's "Cal" Conant, general factotum in the Y. W. C. A. cafeteria here. From dishes, pots and pans to intricate movie plots certainly is a far cry, you will admit. But "Cal" happens to be one "struggling author" who's not going to run the risk of starving while he's waiting for the royalties to roll round.

In the restaurant, where he's worked for four years now—ever since he was 15—he's sure of his three squares every day. And then he has $10 or $12 a week coming in besides. This thing him along while he's burning the midnight oil over his little pad of yellow paper.

When "Nobody's Money," starring Jack Holt, showed here recently, no-body—save a lanky youngster in the gallery and maybe a companion or two—paid any heed to the author's line under the title.

Fact is, none around the cafeteria, except the bookkeeper remembered having heard "Cal's" full name—Calillo D. Conant.

But down in "Cal's" savings account was a check for $500 for the scenario. And up in his room was a letter from his agency announcing it had been offered $1200 for one of his plots, but was holding it for $1500.

"You say you want my picture?" asked "Cal," as he sat a load of dishes on the "bus." "Well, will these clothes do?" And "Cal," the scenario writer, posed for the photographer right there in the cafeteria in his bus boy's uniform.

So, if you happen to see the name "Calillo D. Conant" on the screen again, you'll know it's "Cal" of the kitchen brigade.

HIGH BLOOD PRESSURE

Physician's Discovery Safely Reduces
It To Normal and Dizzy Spells
Disappear

If your blood pressure is too high you cannot pass a life insurance examination.

Perhaps you don't know whether you have this trouble or not, but if you have occasional dizzy spells, shortness of breath, pains in the head, hot flashes, are nervous, nervous or don't sleep well, your blood pressure is probably higher than it ought to be even if you don't realize it.

Normal, the prescription of a Buffalo physician, reduces high blood pressure and when this result is accomplished all the ailments caused by this abnormal condition will quickly disappear. A. W. mild interest, but this morning there was a young man called to the witness stand, who admitted he was born in Lowell, but who couldn't speak or understand English.

He is 21 years old and was called on behalf of his father, George Page, who was before the court on a charge of drunkenness. Page is the father of nine children, the youngest of whom is only four weeks old, and Judge Enright was not inclined to send him to jail because of this, even though he was now on probation.

Page was given another chance, the case being continued until Jan. 13 of next year, but the court strongly suggested that besides looking out for himself as regards drink, he should also take steps at once to see that his son become acquainted with the English language.

Charge of Larceny

Charles T. McNamara of Boston pleaded not guilty to the larceny of 110 shares of stock in the Inner-City Trust Co. from Mary A. Burke, now of Portland, Me. The shares are valued at $13.50 each. At McNamara's request the case was continued, an objection by the complainant being withdrawn when the defendant agreed to pay her transportation to and from Portland.

No testimony was offered this morning, but the complainant alleges that she gave McNamara the stock to sell for her several months ago, and since then he hasn't made any return. She secured a warrant for his arrest here yesterday and he was taken into custody in Boston and bailed to appear in the Lowell court this morning.

William Marple pleaded guilty to a charge of driving an auto while under the influence of liquor, and a fine of $100 was imposed.

BOY DROWNED
IN BEAVER BROOK

Auguste Corbin, aged 8 years, of 447 Riverside street, was drowned yesterday afternoon in Beaver brook, Dracut, near the Meadow bridge. The boy, with several of his playmates, was playing in the shallow water, according to the report of the accident, and went out on a rock that, on its farthest side, shelved sharply into deep water. He fell into the water and had disappeared from sight when assistance arrived. John J. Keefe, an operator for the street railway company, who lives near the scene of the accident, brought the body to the surface after diving for nearly an hour.

The body was removed to the home of his parents by Undertakers Amodeo Archambault & Sons. He leaves his parents, Joseph and Abner (Arton) Corbin; two sisters, Yvonne and Alma Corbin; and one brother, Emile Corbin.

Says Wife Cause of Trouble

death is the only thing that will end my misery."

Smith sobbed as he talked. At first he was reticent and during the long ride from Bangor yesterday, in company with officer William Liston of the local department, who was sent to the Maine city to get Smith back, he was silent. It was not until they neared Lowell that Smith finally gave Officer Liston any information about himself.

He didn't want his folks to know anything about it, he said, as they had disowned him and wouldn't care. And this morning he again asked that no notification be sent his folks.

"I'm out of their life, now," he said, "and they have no further use for me. And she's gone, too, so what is there for me to live for?"

Smith was arrested in Bangor Monday night, with the Ford sedan alleged to have been stolen from in front of Keith's theatre in this city, on May 30 last. The car bore Maine registration plates, but the registration plates of the owner, William Hughes of Milford, N. H., were found in the car. The Lowell police were notified and Wednesday morning, Officer Liston and Mr. Hughes left for Bangor to bring back Smith and the car.

From Monday night until Thursday morning, all the time Smith was in jail in Bangor, he refused to talk, or to eat or drink. And the first morsel of food that passed his lips from Monday night until Thursday morning was when he had breakfast with Officer Liston after leaving the Bangor jail.

His intention was to starve himself to death, he said, because death was the only solution for his misery. He didn't want to live. Life was empty.

But on the way from Bangor he ate heartily enough, according to coming here in an attempt to identify Officer Liston, and last night, while city Smith as a man wanted in Portland on the way home through Salisbury and for auto theft also.

Smith, he asked if he could have a beach dinner. He had eaten two good meals on the trip but Officer Liston says that the shore dinner was devoured with relish.

This morning, Smith was formally charged with the larceny of an auto and through his counsel, Attorney Daniel Donahue, a plea of not guilty was entered and the case was continued until tomorrow morning.

In the meantime an inspector from the Portland police department is being there.

Prepare for Mary and Norma as Juliet

NORMA TALMADGE

MARY PICKFORD

BY NEA SERVICE
HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 30.—"Romeo, oh Romeo, where are a couple of those?" Mary Pickford and Norma Talmadge may unite their silvery voices in this plea. For both Mary and Norma are going to film "Romeo and Juliet," each, of course, as Juliet.

This rivalry should prove interesting to screen viewers. The competitors in Shakespeare's most romantic drama will be the acknowledged two most popular women of motion pictures. And their Romances?

Mary instinctively wants Doug Fairbanks to be her Romeo on the screen as well as at home in Beverly Hills. (And what a balcony scene it would be with Doug, the leaping Nutski of the photomontage, the wonder of all climbers.)

Norma's Romeo will be that like young giant, Joseph S. Schildkraut, dramatic sensation of New York's Broadway.

Schildkraut is now doing his first work before the camera in "Dust of Desire," an oriental story by Margaret Peterson, that Chester Franklin and Francis Marion are co-directing. And in "Dust of Desire," Schildkraut is playing opposite Norma Talmadge.

It was Schildkraut who suggested "Romeo and Juliet" to Norma Talmadge. He was eager to play Romeo on the screen, and told Norma he'd like her as his Juliet. A few days later Joseph Schenck (who in Norma's husband as well as producer) announced that "Romeo and Juliet" would be her vehicle next spring.

Mary Pickford was the first to announce her plan to play Juliet. Her announcement came when she signed Ernst Lubitsch, the Austrian spectacle-master, who directed her in "Rosetta," to direct her in three more pictures, one a year. And the first was to be "Romeo and Juliet."

It is interesting to note that the suggestion that Mary Pickford play Juliet originally came from Ferdinand Earle, the artist-director.

Earle made the suggestion in self-defense. Mary announced she would play Marguerite in a film version of "Faust."

"This prospect was rather disconcerting to Earle, who had put more than a year's time and labor on exhaustive research in his preparations to present the play's philosophical drama in motion picture form.

So Earle publicly welcomed the lovely and popular Mary as a competitor, but at the same time pointed out that Marguerite was hardly Mary's type of role and that the "Faust" of Goethe had very little to say about that feminine character anyway.

Ferdinand Earle urged that Mary appear as Juliet, a classical role he said Shakespeare might have written especially for her.

When letters came pouring into Mary from her myriad friends, most of them taking the same stand, American sweetheart abruptly dropped her "Faust" plans, on which Lubitsch had already done considerable work.

Poor little Mary meets competition whenever she turns to the classics. In fact her rival, Norma Talmadge, as her rival, has come from the Pickford studio since Norma

This Little World

BY GEORGE BRITT
N. E. A. Service Writer
CHICAGO, Aug. 31.—The men—young fellows who know the finest girls in the world—are the star customers at the florist shops on Michigan avenue and in the loop. But not at the flower counters which hide away in corners of the elevated stations, spreading their perfumes at low rates before the rush-hour crowds. There the best buyers are women, and the men who do patronize these stands, the proprietors say, have the unmistakable air of husbands.

Husbands are supposed to be protected against temptation by their wives, but listen to this statement from a Chicago wife who just filed a damage suit against her mate.

"He wears fine silk stockings and fastens them with small gold safety pins to his A. V. D's. He has 30 pairs of extra long ladies' silk stockings—for himself all right. He says socks let his knees get cold."

Any other nominations for the title of "meanest woman?"

announced her Juliet ambitions, but it is unlikely Mary will give up this cherished idea.

Juliet has always been a cause for rivalry among actresses. Last season saw Ethel Barrymore and Jane Cowl presenting the role on the New York stage. And back in 1916 two film versions of "Romeo and Juliet" were made, one with Theda Bara and the other with Francis X. Bushman and Beverly Bayne.

POLICE SAVE 19 HORSES

Rescued With Great Difficulty When Fire Swept Barn of Ice Cream Co.

BOSTON, Aug. 31.—Nineteen horses were saved with great difficulty in a fire that swept the rear of the barn of the Neapolitan Ice Cream company at 160 Norfolk street, Cambridge, shortly before 11 o'clock last night.

The Cambridge police feel certain the fire was set by a 16-year-old boy who is believed to have caused no less than six fires in the vicinity in the past two weeks.

The stable occupies the rear of an old two-story wooden structure. The flames quickly swept up to the second floor, where a large quantity of hay was stored.

In a few minutes the flames burst through the roof and alarmed the neighborhood. Two alarms were sent in from different boxes.

Sergeant La Marche and Patrolmen Brady, Kane and Leary entered the burning building before the firemen arrived and made their way to the rear where they could hear the horses screaming and rushing about.

The floor of the hay loft had broken through and balls of blazing hay were dropping down among the crowded horses. Several of the animals broke their halters and were trying to escape.

At great peril the policemen caught the crazed animals and at last got them all out of a back door into the street, where they ran wild.

Some of the horses were badly burned about the flanks and shoulders. Young men of the district finally herded them all together after they had run their fright off and they were taken to a lot at Elm street and Broadway. None of the policemen reported being hurt.

There were 10 wagons stored in the front of the building and after the horses were saved the intrepid policemen dragged them out also, with the help of civilians.

The firemen confined the blaze to the rear of the structure and the damage was estimated at $6000. A large quantity of baled hay was burned. A company was kept on duty practically all night deluging the ruins to make sure no spark was left.

"Dr. King, I Want Teeth I Can Eat With"

A man came into this office some time ago and made the above statement. He said he had two sets of teeth and could not eat with either of them. I made him a set and he came into the office later and said they were the only ones he could keep in his mouth while eating. In fact he could chew peanuts and eat apples without the least trouble.

The reason for this is my particular method of taking impressions and study of the shape and relation of the jaws and correct articulation of the teeth.

Now I can make you a set of teeth just as good as his. If your plate drops or rocks, come in, for I make a specialty of difficult cases and will examine your mouth and give you advice free of charge.

THE STOMACH AND HEALTH

Perhaps you may remember the old story of how the different organs of the body decided to go on strike against the stomach, which was always giving them too much work to do. After a short strike they became alarmed. Something must be done at once. They were beginning to get weak from lack of blood nourishment. Much to their surprise they found out that they all depended on the stomach. The business agent called all the workers back on the job and the body building was resumed.

Hot weather is with us and common sense in eating may mean all the difference in the world to your future growth and condition of health. I have known one summer to decide the health happiness of a whole life time. In this day of freedom from old-time ideas and conventionalities try and do your stomach a good turn by finding out what real food values are and the proper amount you require. Don't overload your stomach in the hot season or any other season for that matter. An occasional fast for a few meals will do you a world of good. Your stomach will enjoy the rest.

A Personal Equation

Sometimes we find a person who will tell you that he eats whenever he is hungry. He appears strong and healthy and it never hurts him to take food at any time. Again, another person will eat only at regular intervals, giving strict attention to proper eating and careful chewing of his food.

But in spite of this he is thin and appears undernourished. In the first case, the person was probably blessed with a strong stomach, like a horse, as the expression is, and his general physical condition is strong in resistance. In spite of his greatly increased amount of food above the normal he was not fat. His selection of food with the proper amount of calories was not good and his waste was high.

In the second case the food selection was probably the same day after day and not sufficiently body building. Too much of the same kind and in spite of the proper habits, no real gain resulted. In fact there was a loss, as his vitality was undoubtedly poor and he was low in disease resistance.

Watch Your Diet

Meats often have a bad effect on the stomach if taken too often during the summer. Eggs and fish are much better and can be prepared in many tempting ways. Vegetables and fruit are the best of all things for summer diet. They make up into delicious salads and combine well with milk, one of the best hot weather foods. Cool water, milk and lemonade, not sweet, are the best drinks for the hot season.

When you are hungry, it does not signify that the general body craves food. The stomach, which is of different type in different individuals, becomes empty in some persons more rapidly than in others. Contraction of the empty stomach is what produces hunger. Don't eat too much or too often, given your stomach a rest. It is all right now but you will have to use it a long time.

SEEKING TO AVOID HARD COAL STRIKE

EMPLOYMENT FOR BLIND

Gov. Cox Replies to Agitation for Reopening of Shops in Cambridge

BOSTON, Aug. 31.—Governor Cox last night issued a statement relative to the agitation for the reopening of the shops for the blind in Cambridge, which were recently closed on account of the cost to the commonwealth, in which he expressed the belief that it would be possible to work out plans which will provide employment for the blind under more favorable conditions than existed in the Cambridge shops.

With his statement, the governor made public a report on the closing of the Cambridge industries for men which was compiled by Robert I. Bramhall, director of the division of the blind. The report stated that of the 2853 blind persons in the state only 160 were employed in the state shops at Cambridge, Lowell, Worcester, Fall River and Pittsfield. It was added that the last legislature appropriated $250,000 for the work of the blind and one-third of the sum was devoted to the shop in Cambridge where 59 men were employed.

The per capita was $200 while the average earnings of those employed will be possible to work out plans which will provide employment for the blind under more favorable conditions than existed in the Cambridge shops. NEURVE

When Miss Nancy Knowles, Philadelphia society girl, saw Thomas McCloskey, a park guard, give chase to some automobile thieves, she stepped on the gas of her car and went to his help. As they closed in on the robbers, one of the tires of the girl's machine blew out and the two cars collided. The policeman was seriously injured, and the girl was badly shaken. But she tried to keep on after the thieves. They fled before she could reach them, however.

KNIGHTS OF COLUMBUS PLAN ANNUAL OUTING

At the regular meeting of the local Knights of Columbus last night, final plans for the outing which is to be held at the Genoa club grounds in Tyngsboro on Sept. 9 were discussed and a committee appointed to take charge of affairs on that day. Transportation will be made in automobiles provided by members of the organization, starting promptly at 10 o'clock from in front of the Union street clubhouse. At the grounds, a lengthy program of sports will be indulged in with valuable prizes in the giving for the winners. An old-fashioned Rhode Island clam-bake will be a feature. The nominating committee recommended at the recommendation was accepted that the annual election of officers will take place on Sept. 12. A large and promising list of candidates will be balloted.

The following were appointed a committee to organize a bowling league: John C. McQuade, John J. McArdle, Michael P. Maloney, Alfred J. Rogers and Eugene Donovan.

SOCIAL AND DANCE AT ASSOCIATE HALL

Monday evening, Associate hall will be the scene of another social and dance for which Associate hall is noted throughout New England. The hall has been touched up by expert painters and one of the best floors obtainable has been laid and a new cooling system, which will keep the air clean and cool, has been installed. Minor & Doyle's orchestra has been engaged for the evening season.

LOWELL GAIKIE CLUB

The opening of the fall social season will be officially observed by the Lowell Gaelic club next Monday evening (Labor day), with a social and dance in Merrimack hall. An energetic committee has been working steadily on plans for this affair and promise that it will be one of the premier events of the season. Music for dancing will be furnished by Foley's orchestra.

school, graduating in 1888. He then entered the Oblate novitiate at Tewksbury, going from there to Ottawa, to complete his theological studies preparatory to entering the priesthood. He was ordained at Ottawa in 1896 and became a professor at the University of Ottawa.

From Ottawa Father Duffy went to Buffalo, N. Y., where he was assigned to the Holy Angel church. He left there to become director of the diocesan preparatory school of the diocese, remaining in that capacity for two years.

In 1901 he returned to Tewksbury as master of novices. Two years later he returned to the Holy Angel church at Buffalo for four years. In 1907 he left the New York church to go to Luck Creek, Wisconsin, as pastor. At the end of four years Father Duffy returned to his old church at Buffalo and remained there for six years.

In 1917 he was transferred to Tewks-

Father Duffy has one brother who is also in the priesthood, the Rev. James Duffy of Haverhill, N. Y. He has also two sisters, Miss Catherine Duffy of Lowell and Mrs. Peter McNulty of Chelmsford.

evening, had been stopped in the harbor. The press dispatches add that the Italian steamship Adria, which had cleared for the Levant, was ordered later to go direct to Constantinople without touching at Greek ports.

The newspaper Messaggero today says it is reliably informed that Greece's refusal to pay an indemnity of $500,000 for the slaying of the Italian boundary mission and her request for modification of the Italian demand regard the saluting of the Italian flag are considered by the Italian government as absolutely unsatisfactory.

Italy Studies Greek Reply

ROME, Aug. 31.—(By the Associated Press)—The Italian government today had before it Greece's reply to Premier Mussolini's ultimatum embodying seven demands for reparation and indemnity for the massacre of the Italian officers serving on the Greco-Albanian boundary commission.

The reply declares that the Greek government considers as unjust the attribution to it by Italy of responsibility for the assassinations, and says it finds it impossible to accept the fourth, fifth and sixth demands in the ultimatum, considering them violations of the honor and sovereignty of the Greek state.

These demands were that honors in the form of a twenty-one gun salute be paid by a Greek naval squadron to the Italian flag; that the Greek authorities institute a thorough inquiry into the massacre on the scene of the slayings assisted by the Italian military attaché in Athens, and that all of the guilty be executed.

The Greek reply promises a formal apology for the incident, but in a modified form from that laid down in the Italian ultimatum and also agrees to the celebration of a religious function in memory of the victims.

It offers "just indemnity" to the families of the slain commissioners, and concludes with the hope that Italy will acknowledge Greece's conciliatory spirit and her desire to give satisfaction.

CHANGE FIRE ALARM SYSTEM SO BELLS AND WHISTLES REMAIN SILENT IN NEW BEDFORD

Fire Chief Says City Has Outgrown Old Plan and Audible Alarm Aids in Creating Hindrance—New System in Effect at Once—City at Large Will Know of Fire Only at Second Alarm or Private Box

NEW BEDFORD, Aug. 31.—The practice of publicly sounding fire alarms is to be further curtailed here. Under the new plan, announced following a conference of Mayor Remington and Chief Engineer Dahill today, public alarms will be sounded only for private boxes, boxes in the central business district, and second alarms from public boxes.

The system now in vogue has been outgrown in the opinion of Chief Dahill. At present when a box is used the alarm is repeated four times. The first two rounds are registered on the indicators in the fire houses only and the last two are broadcast by siren and bell.

When agitation for the removal of the audible alarm was at its height Chief Dahill made a strong plea for its retention on the ground that it served to notify men of the off duty platoon the location of the fire so that they could go to the aid of their fellow fire fighters.

Audible Alarm a "Hindrance"

Today the head of the department said the benefits derived from a public alarm were more than offset by hindrance it caused. "At that time," he said, in discussing the subject, "my idea in retaining the signal was to secure the willing co-operation of the men off duty and not obliged to attend fires. We have had a very generous response from the men but today, because of the great increase in the number of automobiles on the streets the benefits are more than offset by hindrance of one kind and another."

Instead of machines clearing out of the way, they hinder the progress of the apparatus on its way to a fire; then block the area around the blaze. We had a good example of that at the ice house fire a little while ago. That was off the main thoroughfare yet there were so many automobiles crowding the road that if we had needed more apparatus it would have been impossible to get it in there and if it had been necessary to send apparatus to another fire, it could only have been done after a very serious delay."

Old System Outgrown

"Fire department officers agree that the use which the public signal originally served has been defeated by modern conditions. Instead of the alarm acting as an agency for clearing the streets and making the approach of the men and apparatus easy and convenient, a contrary effect is produced and the populace on foot and in autos flees to the scene and becomes a hindrance and positive nuisance. A whistle and bells seem to be regarded as a general invitation to attend a public entertainment spectacle."

"With a trained fire fighting force on the job the assembled crowds become an audience that does not help at all, but gets very much in the way. It is expected that safety, convenience and system will each be promoted by doing away with a general public alarm and substituting the very much modified new arrangement."

Rotary Club to Aid

The Rotary club recently addressed on the subject by Chief Dahill, appointed a committee to pledge automobile owners not to park their cars near the scene of a fire.

INCREASED INTEREST IN MILITARY AFFAIRS

Elaborate plans have been drawn to keep high the interest awakened in military affairs among the youth of New England who attended the C.M.T.C. camp at Devens this summer and previous years.

Plans will be formed in the various cities which sent young men to the camp and Rotary and the chambers of commerce will be asked to find quarters for them. Col. P. L. Stackpole, civilian aide to the secretary of war, is directing the new plan.

Eligibility for membership will consist of attendance at one of the C.M.T.C. camps, regardless of year.

LYNN LASTERS WIN

Labor troubles in Lynn's shoe industries have been numerous during the past few years, with results well known in trade union circles and industrial centers. Not always have the disputes been settled amicably to the satisfaction of both sides, however, and the shoe manufacturers and the workers. The latest strike involving some 1000 lasters in Lynn was quickly settled, the workers securing a long-sought-for increase in wages retroactive to August 1 and involving about $5000 in back pay.

The five-day work week in shoe-making circles in Lynn appears to satisfy the workers as nothing ever has in the past when the hours were longer and the wages smaller. Whether the five-day work campaign will spread to many other New England cities in the shoe industry as well as other wage-earning trades remains to be seen.

The fact that the Lynn lasters won their strike for wage increases, indicates that the shoe industry is destined to prosper in spite of output this fall and winter. Reports from many New England manufacturing centers show that orders for shoes are steadily increasing. Lowell shoe manufacturing concerns, of course, will figure in this demand for new goods and plenty of them.

The settlement of the Lynn shoe workers' wage controversy was brought about by friendly arbitration, in which the manufacturers showed the right spirit clear through. Harry B. Linscott, represented the manufacturers, and Lynn working people have a right to rejoice that they had a chance to deal personally at the conference with a man of his standing, fairness and right dealing, for such has been his reputation in the shoe manufacturing world for many years.

STUDENTS AS TRACK HANDS

Half a hundred or more students from Harvard college, the M. I. T., Boston university, and several other higher institutions of learning are working this summer in the yards or along the tracks of the Boston and Maine railroad. Most of them are working with pick and shovel and bars, setting wooden sleepers, ballasting the roadbeds and performing other necessary work in the railroad's department of maintenance of way.

Some of these hardy, anxious-to-work young men are doing this labor, we presume, merely for the summer wages that it brings them, but there are many performing with pick and shovel because they intend to make "advertising" a permanent occupation and want to start at the bottom.

The valiant fifty students tramping the Boston and Maine's extensive rights of way this summer, and their number includes several Chinese students who are evidently not out to secure white-collar jobs when they graduate from their respective schools and colleges. Some of them in truth may be the railroad kings of the future. And the students from the far Orient will likely return to their land of their birth sometime and show their brother capitalists how to run railroads on the best American plan.

These track hands of the student world who are laboring this summer on the Boston and Maine, may be working their way through college, but here their opportunities for obtaining valuable knowledge that will be worth while are far better than would be the range of workaday activities in some seashore jazz parlor as waiters and hotel wall-flowers.

And we would like to follow the career of that slim young Chinaman who has been toiling with a gang of Italian-speaking laborers on the B. and M. above Winchester during the past week. It will be worth careful notation if the ambitious youth is successful in securing that Manchurian railroad job when he completes his Dartmouth educational course and returns to his now disturbed homeland.

THE IRISH ELECTION

Although the returns from the Irish election are incomplete, they already indicate a victory for the Free State government despite the fact that Sinn Féin appears to have secured a substantial majority. The vote for the Free State appears to have been a record, which is an indication that in their constituents' eyes, at least, they have solid support. It appears that Dr. De Valera is elected from the County of Wick, Mass. McSwainy from Cork, and the Chamberlain Markiewicz from Dublin. The report, however, is that the Sinn Féin element in number to cause trouble either within or without the Dail. It is not expected that they will respect their words, but if they have respect for decency and they will submit to the verdict of the people and thus allow the country to proceed under the constitution that has been adopted. If they should enter the Dail and form a coalition with some of the other minority parties, they might be able to defeat the government and thus precipitate another election. It is expected, however, that their opposition if they are not to submit, will be exerted outside the Dail as an appeal to the country as an effort to maintain the semblance of a de facto government such as they have claimed to exist for some time past. This, however, the Free State authorities will not tolerate.

HELPING THE FRUIT-GROWERS

Leading shipbuilding lines in the so-called North Atlantic conference have announced a reduction of ten cents a barrel on apples shipped from New England to the United Kingdom. This will be fairly good news to Middlesex county apple exporters, and they are many in the towns about Lowell, and it would seem as though growers of pituita fruit who have been working about present markets and future prospects, with Boston prices lower than ever before, would have a chance to ship apples to the English markets and "make good money," as the saying goes.

Last year and also in 1921, Middlesex county apple-growers sent many thousands of bushels of apples to England at high prices. The average prices for some weeks during the heavy shipping season, netted many farmers from two to three dollars more per bushel than could have been obtained on the open and sometimes flooded Boston market exchange and at the wagon selling stalls.

SAFETY CAMPAIGNS

Registrar Goodwin endorses the safety week campaign to be conducted in the city of Lawrence under the direction of the Lawrence Automobile club. He says that the number of serious and fatal accidents which have occurred in and around Lawrence shows the need of such a movement, and he hopes that its effect will be felt in September and October, the months which show the greatest number of accidents. We had supposed that the summer months in the number of such accidents, but Registrar Goodwin is the highest authority on such matters. What he says of Lawrence in regard to motor accidents might be equally applied to every other city in the state.

THE COAL SETTLEMENT

There is every indication that the plan put forward by Gov. Pinchot in the coal controversy will result in a settlement. The terms are unquestionably in favor of the miners and, if adopted, will result either in reduced profits of the operators or a considerable increase in the price of coal. There is reason to believe that the operators can afford to get along with reduced profits, and they are likely to be compelled to do so. The public will not relish a settlement that will bring any increase in the price of anthracite.

HEAVY LOSS

Cotton planters of our country this year lose 750 million dollars on account of the ravages of the boll weevil and drought, estimates E. E. Bartlett, Jr., president of the N. Y. Cotton Exchange.

The money loss plagues the planters. It hurts. But the real loss is in decreased production of cotton. Americans, hypnotized by the dollar, frequently lose their sense of proportion by trying to measure everything in terms of money instead of quantities.

The dollar, you know, usually gives short weight.

There is much curiosity as to what panacea the newly elected senators will propose in the next congress for the relief of the farmers. Senator Magnus Johnson of Minnesota and Brookhart of Iowa, with their leader, La Follette, will doubtless put forward some radical program but the farmer is not to be aided in that particular way. He will gain more from reduced transportation, and reduction in freight rates than from any of the pet schemes advocated by the Senate senators. Those reforms, however, can come only through the election of a democratic majority to congress, and a democratic administration for the next four years.

Practically everything can be insured nowadays. The farmer can insure his crop against bad weather, and the business man against almost any evil that may befall him. Scientists who are to photograph the eclipse of the sun on Sept. 10 in Mexico have taken out an insurance policy against the loss they would sustain if cloudy weather or rain should prevent them from getting a clear view of the eclipse. For the sum of $500 they have secured an insurance policy of $5000 on the result.

The Shoe and Leather Reporter thinks that the weekend habit of being worked to excess and that if the custom continues, both ends of the week will be so generally played against the middle, that it will be necessary to suspend it until winter, under the summer months. Unfortunately the shoe business is so dull in the summer that most of the shoes can afford to be gone with week-end allowances.

If man has risen from the monkey, what has evolution done for the horse, the cow, the elephant, the lion, and other animals that have been the same as long as human history has existed? It is known that the human animal is not expected that they will respect their words, but if they have respect for decency and they will submit to the verdict of the people and thus allow the country to proceed under the constitution that has been adopted.

Sugar now heads the list of our imports from other countries. Raw silk formerly had the lead ship. Americans are the champion sugar eaters of the world. The cost on sugar is naturally in increase in direct proportion to the increase in the cost of production of sugar. It is a situation that is clearly an absurdity.

Former President Taft, now chief justice of the supreme court of the United States, emphasizes the need of religion as an antidote to the evils of the present day, and in this he is in accord with all the great men of the country.

It would seem as if the waste paper men should offer a premium on the German marks as the paper on which they are printed is more valuable than the currency they represent.

Refueling in the air may lead to the establishment of filling stations for that purpose.

SEEN AND HEARD

This climate does not always agree with the calendar.

The bath tub will not take its vacation until winter.

Do your Christmas shopping early and avoid this warning.

Great things about cool weather is all these funny named new soft drinks will be gone.

Flies swarmed this summer placed and to reach the conclusion it isn't enough.

A Thought

Men of real merit, whose noble and glorious deeds are ready to be acknowledged, are yet not to be endured if they want their own actions.—Aeschines.

Had Damages Enough

After a recent trolley collision a Scotchman was extracted from the wreckage by a companion who had escaped unhurt. "Never mind, Sandy," his rescuer remarked, "it's nothing serious and you'll get damages for it." "Damages? I no had enough? Guid sake, it's repairs I'm seekin' noo."

Too Cold In Winter

The graduating class had recently handed in written tests on physiology and hygiene. In examining the papers the teacher came across this answer, handed in by a miss of 16, in reply to the question: "What is the proper time to bathe?" "The proper time to bathe is in the summer time."

Too Much to Expect

Said the police salesman, temporarily promoted to the cycle department: "Yes, madam, if the bicycle is not just as represented in our advertisement we will cheerfully refund your daughter's money." "Go on! Don't tell me such yarns as that, you young man! Ye might kimmie Mandy's money back, but 'tain't human nature' for ye to be cheerful 'bout doin' it!"

His First Assignment

It was the young reporter's first assignment—the obituary of a prominent local banker, who had been fatally injured in an automobile accident. In his write-up he described with touching pathos the tragic circumstances of the fatality, concluding by referring to the bereavement sustained by the family: "The widow is almost grief-stricken."

Shoulder Strap Support

Left-belle has a sizable mole on her left shoulder. One of her flapper chums was asking why she didn't have it taken off, calling her attention to the "peculiar" mole and other modern facilities. "You're foolish, kiddie," responded Left-belle. "With these tricky fellows a girl who has a mole on her shoulder is lucky." "What on earth do you mean?" "I'm talking about bull cows," declared that mole holds up my shoulder strap."

When Boasters Meet

A Chicago orator said: "A Denver man was bragging in a New York hotel lobby about the Rocky mountains; finally a New Yorker said with a sneer: 'You seem mighty proud of those mountains, sir.' 'Yes,' said the Denver man, 'I grant you, my friends built them.' The New Yorker man exclaimed a cloud of smoke. Then he said: 'Did you ever happen to hear of the Dead Sea? It's in one of the old countries, you know.' 'Sure,' said the Denverite, 'I know all about the Dead Sea.' 'Perhaps you've heard then,' said the New Yorker, 'that my great-great-grandfather killed the damned thing.'"

Life

They told me that life could be just what I made it—Life could be fashioned and worn like a gown.

Life is the power, the decision, the choice to wear it with honor or crown.

And so I selected the prettiest pattern Life should be made of the richest material—Someone's smile, and a lift out of my chest.

But other folks came and they leaned over my shoulder; Somebody questioned the ultimate of my life; Somebody tangled the thread I was using.

One day I found that my scissors were lost.

And somebody claimed the material I had.

Somebody said I'd be tired 'er 'tired worn; Somebody's fingers, too pointed and snip-snip.

Snatched at the cloth, and I saw it was torn.

Oh! Somebody tried to do all of the sewing; Wanting always to advise or condemn.

Here is my life, the product of many; Where is that gown I could fashion—mine?

RENEW ATTACK ON KLANSMEN

Battling Between K. K. K. Members and Mobs Resumed at Perth Amboy, N. J.

30 Klansmen, Who Took Refuge in Hall After Last Night's Clash, Attacked

Mob of 5000 Took Part in Last Night's Disorder—Tear Gas Bombs Used

PERTH AMBOY, N. J., Aug. 31.—Battling between Ku Klux Klansmen and mobs was resumed on the streets of Perth Amboy this morning as members of the order tried to escape from the Odd Fellows hall where they had sought refuge during an attack on a Klan meeting last night in which upward of 100 persons are reported to have been injured.

A hundred men, armed with clubs and stones, made an attack on 50 Klansmen who had remained hidden in the hall, dashed from the building.

The Klansmen were severely beaten before they were able to escape their pursuers. Several were reported seriously injured.

5000 Storm Meeting

PERTH AMBOY, N. J., Aug. 31.—A crowd of 5000 persons broke up a meeting of the Ku Klux Klan in Odd Fellows hall last night, 75 policemen and 150 firemen being unable to drive back the throngs that surrounded the building. Firemen drove trucks into the mass of people, but to no avail. A hurry call was sent for state police in Trenton.

Patrolmen fired shots in the air, threw gas bombs, and swung their nightsticks while the firemen turned streams of water on the fighting throng.

The leaders of the mob were knocked down by patrolmen when they first started to advance toward the hall, but after they had been carried away another attack was started. This time stones were thrown and all windows in Odd Fellows hall, as well as many others in nearby buildings were broken.

Police Chief Tenneson then ordered his men to throw tear gas bombs, and 13 of these, the town's entire supply, were exploded. The crowd fell back, but advanced again, hurling more stones. It was then that a riot call was sounded and 150 firemen dashed to the scene.

After the firemen had run their apparatus directly at the surging mass of humanity and had failed to disperse the crowd they attached their hose lines to every available hydrant and drenched the rioters with several streams of water.

Deserted for a few seconds the crowd fell back. Several of the more sturdy, however, braved the water and cut the hose lines with axes and knives while those in the crowd threw stones at the firemen.

Chief Tenneson, in the meantime, had ordered the Klansmen to leave the building, clambering out windows, down fire-escapes, and through every available exit, they were met by their assailants and many hand-to-hand fights ensued.

As one man darted from the crowd someone shouted, "That man has a gun." A patrolman grabbed him, shoved him into an auto and rushed him to the police station.

Other cars loaded with men, followed, but the prisoner was rushed through the station and locked in a stockade at the rear. After searching the station house, who had followed returned to the scene of the fight.

LEARN TO SWIM IN
THE WADING POND

Five hundred Lowell children, ranging in age from eight to 14 years, learned to swim this summer in the wading pond at the common. Leo

Wholey acted as instructor and an average of twenty children a day have been under his instruction since July 16, when the pond was opened for this purpose. This is the first year that swimming instruction has been given in connection with the playground programs.

SOMETHING DOING AT BIG CARNIVAL TONIGHT

An exhibition of dexterity that will furnish thrills equal to those furnished by Houdini years ago will be the main feature tonight at the carnival being conducted by the local street carmen's union on the show grounds at Moore and Gorham street for the benefit of the William Gallagher Memorial fund.

At 7:30 o'clock this evening a disciple of the original Houdini will make his appearance upon the show grounds bound in heavy chains that will be locked in many places. The chains and locks will be inspected by men who are authorities on such subjects and the shackled man will then be hoisted to the top of a 30-foot pole. Suspended at this dizzy height from the ground, he will attempt to free himself of the chains and make a safe descent to the ground.

While this man has often succeeded in like attempts, the element of chance is always present and his struggle to free himself of the shackles gains the admiration of the spectators and holds them in suspense until the last chain drops and the man makes a quick descent to the ground.

The pond has a depth of approximately 30 inches and Mr. Wholey is justly proud of the fact that no accidents or near-accidents marred the instruction which was concluded for the season on Wednesday.

The instruction periods have covered two hours each morning and two hours each afternoon. The average child, Mr. Wholey says, learned to swim in two individual lessons of about 15 minutes each.

Parents took a great interest in this instruction and many attended various sessions to watch the youngsters learning to handle themselves in the water. In several instances children were brought to Mr. Wholey by parents who desired that they learn to swim and all were enthusiastic over the opportunity afforded.

Chairman: Michael P. Regan, secretary: Joseph F. Convery, Patrick J. Fell, Patrick Bradley, Michael J. McGoonan.

The speakers at the mass meeting in the Memorial Auditorium will be as follows: Parker F. Murphy, president of the Trades and Labor council, who will act as chairman of the meeting; Rev. John T. Ullman, pastor of the Matthew Memorial P. M. church; Rev. John J. McGarry, D.C.L., pastor of St. Patrick's church, and Arthur E. Holden. Mr. Holden is now secretary of the conference for progressive political action and is considered an eloquent speaker. During President Wilson's administration he served as a member of the federal board for vocational education and has also served as a legislative agent for the American Federation of Labor.

The committee in charge of the Labor day observance consists of the following members of the Trades and Labor council: Parker F. Murphy, Chas. E. Anderson, Anna Reagan, Rachel Campbell, Michael P. Regan, Thomas Crowe, Patrick Fell, Daniel Moynihan, Joseph Convery, James Wood, James Brown, James Usher, Michael McGoonan, Patrick Bradley and John Hanley.

McAULIFFE SAYS FIRPO HASN'T A CHANCE AGAINST DEMPSEY

Michigan Heavyweight, Now Member of Dempsey Camp, Nearly Knocked Out in One Round—Says Jack Harder Puncher Than Firpo—Will Be Greatly Surprised if South American is Able to Come Out for Second Round in Championship Bout

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N. Y., Aug. 31 (By the Associated Press)—With his heavyweight championship, fight with Luis Angel Firpo just two weeks away, Jack Dempsey, although still suffering from a cold, today settled down to his intensive training program.

The champion, if he wins his program, will come off the next twelve days without any more layoffs. Dempsey was impressive showing yesterday against Jack McAuliffe, in the "Michigan" heavyweight's initial workout, convinced admirers of the heavyweight champion that he was rapidly rounding into the peak of his career.

McAuliffe started the fight with Dempsey in boxing, but he was forced to quit after three minutes, going back to the rubbing room with his right eye shut and his left eye bleeding from a slight cut. In the one round Dempsey had McAuliffe dangerously on the verge of a knockout. In fact, it looked as if Dempsey held his opponent up in one instance and then refrained from hitting him during the finish of the round.

McAuliffe was finished in six rounds, but he holds the distinction of being one of the few to land effectively on the Argentine. McCann sent Firpo to his knees with a heavy right to the chin in the fifth round, but was so badly battered immediately after that he proved an easy victim in the sixth.

Italian Jack Herman, of Newark, N. J., holds the distinction of sleeping longer under a Firpo punch than any other man who opposed the South American giant.

Herman was hardly a match for the strong one below the clouds. He managed to evade Firpo's whallops for four rounds, but forgot to duck in the fifth. A Firpo right landed on his jaw, then a left, sent him from the inside found the point of the chin. He was raised a foot off the floor and landed flat on his back. Thirty minutes later he woke up and asked:

"Was anybody else hurt?"

Encyclopedia of Boxing

that he hadn't pulled on a glove since his fight with Floyd Johnson and was not in the best of shape. However, he said he did not want to detract from Dempsey's punching power.

"Dempsey is a harder puncher than Pirpo and I will be the most surprised man in the world if the American is able to come out of the second round," McAuliffe said. "I know what I'm talking about. I've faced both men. Dempsey sleeps around so fast and shows his punches with such speed and force that Pirpo will be bewildered. Dempsey will hook him to pieces. Pirpo's last punch is a long one. He is made to order for one of Dempsey's left hooks. Pirpo hasn't a chance unless he hits Dempsey by accident."

The champion worked in impressive fashion after his three-day rest. He ripped into Jack Burke after polishing off McAduff, serving the Pittsburgher back on his heels and a dozen times, with jolting right punches. Burke, however, gamely landed one on the champion and nailed him with rights which were forced an opportunity which was almost too quickly to catch Dumpey. McAduff probably will be able to work fairly, but George Heffing, the 257-pound negro, is back to take his turn along with Burke. Ray Newman, a Jersey City light heavyweight, also joined; the ranks of human punching bags.

Experts Predict Middleweight Title Will Change Hands Tonight—Greb Big Favorite Over Wilson

NEW YORK, Aug. 31.—Hans Greb of Pittsburgh, will endeavor tonight at the Polo grounds to remove the middleweight crown from the brow of Mike Wilson in a fifteen round match.

Wilson, having been under official ban for a part of his career as a middleweight champion, has had few battles since he won the title from Mike O'Dowd in 1929, and there are many who believe that he will predict that Greb will emerge from the ring after the conflict with the championship hand around the waist. The argument will be hotly contested.

Both men claimed to be in perfect condition and measure and weighed in at 145 pounds.

Greb 5 to 2 Favorite

Greb is a 5 to 2 favorite to win the title. Betting odds on this first of New York's three impending world championship battles have fluttered like a flag in a breeze since the middle of the week. First it was 3 to 1 on Greb. Wilson money appearing from the Italian colonies of New York and Boston gradually tuned this rating down to 9 to 5. Yesterday, however, Wilson money suffered a mild case of drowsy, and the very latest quotation on Greb preferred is 5 to 2 to win and 1 to 1 on Wilson. The odds on the two rounds are taking generous chunks of it.

Stage All Set

There is no readiness for the fray. The last of the extra bleachers were put in place yesterday and the big flood lights over the ring were turned on last night.

The weather is behaving itself and the promoters report a heavy advance sale for all the seats.

The Dempsey-Kemp fight, the Dempsey-Kemp clash on the 14th has no other sports matters badly clouded over here.

The fighters themselves send forth the dictum that they can hardly wait to get at each other. All training camps are in the best of health.

Greb played a little baseball at Joe O'Brien's gym and Wilson took a short crack over the hills that surround his quarters.

There's no great mystery about the reason for Greb's mastery of the betting odds, the first item on the list of which is that Greb is a known quantity. He has been in the ring steadily for 10 years now and although he has faced such men as Billy Brennan, Tom Thibbons, Gene Tunney and others, he has never lost a bout.

His record is not, but the referee's decision since he really arrived in the game, and that was lost in the confusion of the fight. He stands too much investigation. He holds a clean decision among other accomplishments over Tom Thibbons, the man who has been the only one to beat rounds with Dempsey at Shelby on July 4.

Wilson, on the other hand, has still to prove himself for all the fact that he holds the championship right now. His record is not impressive. He has been in the ring for the last two years, while Greb was striding up and down the country.

Wilson has been in the ring for once a month. Greb's recent two months' vacation is the longest rest he's had for ten years. His illness during the last year has been a hindrance and it will show on Wilson.

Yankees Increase Already Large Lead by Defeating Senators—Boston Wins

NEW YORK, Aug. 21.—(By The New York Giants defeat of a Brooklyn team yesterday was the first game of the Brooklyn series, 5 to 4, and advanced their lead in the National League to four games over the Cincinnati Reds, who were idle, and eight games over the St. Louis Cardinals, who were idle from Grimes' offerings, which were well scattered.

The Yankees added to their already large lead by defeating the Senators 4 to 3 in a see saw struggle. Babe

The Americans and Believers will meet tonight on the South common in the first of the two games remaining between them to settle pennant possession in the City Twilight League. Tonight's game is the last regularly scheduled league contest, the other being a play-off of last Thursday night's three to three tie.

For tonight's battle the managers of the rival forces have strengthened their lineups. The Americans have Walter Foxe behind the bat, with a new infielder also expected to help out. The Believers will have Hank Garrison and Harold Elliot, second and third, and the Lincolns, to aid Teisk and Riley.

To land the pennant one of the teams must win both games; a split would require a play-off, and a tie would be necessary to determine superiority. The rival managers are out to grab off the first games and thus terminate the season.

It is seldom that two more evenly matched clubs meet in local athletic competition. The teams have come together, but play on all occasions has been so close that only one decision has been reached. The first meeting of the contenders came at the opening of the City Twilight League season on Monday evening, July 14, when the Believers scored a 3 to 0 run in the first inning. The Americans were held scoreless until the sixth when they pushed out a rally creating a tie. Two more full innings were played with darkness ending the deadlock.

The second meeting of this tie on Tuesday evening, July 24, the Americans won with a two-run rally in the seventh and final inning, defeating the Believers 2 to 0. The Lincoln's and Believers lone run came in the sixth. On Thursday evening, Aug. 23 the teams met for the third time. The Americans won three runs in the first inning. The Americans were held scoreless until the fourth when they started a rally. Two more full innings were played, but again darkness intervened and the second deadlock between the teams was chalked up.

On Saturday evening, Aug. 24, the Believers met the Yankees at the Polo Ground, with Tompkins, E. Peter and McManus in charge.

Both made a perfect score with a double, two singles and a pass out of four times at the plate.

There's the first one, hurled all the way from Manchester, N. H. by Thomas Sylvestre, whose football team has "some secret practice every night before a couple of thousand people," and who also says:

"I don't like to brag for my team but if you give me some chance to show you something up your city you and all your football roster will see some of the best player he will watch on the football diamond."

Tommy says a little on his grammar, but he holds a mean pen when it comes to boosting the "Manchester Tiger," of whom he says: "I play some of the best down here and I beat him."

If you don't believe that the "Manchester Tiger" is a great team read just what Romeo has to say about it:

with the latest models on display. High interest was noted in the various new 1924 features of the different cars and it is believed many sales will result from the show.

The bicycle parade had full swing over the track yesterday afternoon. Following the bicycle parade from Cabot street to the grounds various racing events, all carrying handsome prizes, were run off.

Prizes for Cyclists

Previous to the race prizes for the best decorated bicycles in the line of march were awarded as follows: Wilbur McCormick, first, gold watch; Nick Scannas, second, saddle; Robert Sears, third, horn; Raymond Ryan, fourth, pedals; Harry Le Duc, fifth, pump; James Hollerick, sixth, handle bars; Alden Lovett, seventh, mudguard; special prizes of $1 each, Elton Grant, Walter Dunphy and Frank McCarthy.

In the racing event the Merrimack Valley championship one mile open was won by Elvin Pearl, Billy Milne was second and Frank Farrell third. The half mile race for riders under 16 years of age was won by Frank Farrell, first; William Dunphy, second; Albert Brown, third. The two mile open bike race was won by William Milne, Elvin Pearl and Edgar Cornier.

the riders coming past the finishing post in that order.

Girl Riders Goat

The one mile race for boys under 16 years of age was won by Frank Farrell, first; William Dunphy, second; and John Lorigan, third. The two mile relay race between the Old Timers and the Youngsters was won by the latter with ease. The winning team was composed of Arthur Pearl, William Dunphy, Frank Farrell and Billy Milne. That ended the bicycle racing.

Little Irene Gelineau, aged 3 years, of South Lowell, gave an exhibition of riding on a little goat.

Show Horses Are Judged

At the close of the bicycle events saddle horses took command of the arena and William, owned by J. J. Jones, took first award as a gentleman's saddle horse. George Stacey's black gelding was second and Mary V., owned by Arnold Ryan, third.

In the class for gentlemen's driving horses, Peter Blood took the first award with a black gelding. A. J. Ryan was second with Mary V. and Thomas Powers third with Siella MacGregor.

Trick and Fancy Riding
Cowboy Moran gave an exhibition of trick and fancy riding as the final event before the horse gave way to the automobile on the afternoon's program.

An auto parade with all the new models and various types of tractors in line was the next feature of the program. Exhibitions by the tractors will be a feature of today's program.

Household Exhibition

The household exhibition is housed in the Agricultural hall and several tents scattered about the grounds. This part of the fair opened early yesterday morning and by afternoon the awards had been made in practically every class.

"What is the greatest asset for a young pitcher just breaking into the major leagues?" I put that question to Jack Ryan, veteran pitcher, now doing duty as a coach to the Boston American League pitching staff.

"That's an easy one," replied Ryan. "Control, of course. Control is not only the greatest asset, but it is equally valuable to a veteran star. No matter how much stuff a pitcher has, it isn't worth a penny to him if he can't get the ball over the plate. Any pitcher who can get the ball over the plate, thereby forcing the opposition to hit their way out, always has a chance to win."

That afternoon the Chicago club sent a scout pitcher by the name of Gillenwater to the Boston Red Sox. I wondered how he would make out. Remembering what Ryan had said about control, I decided to put his theory to the acid test.

Gillenwater is a right-handed pitcher. He is a shrewd twirler and starts his ball rather low. It was evident that his peculiar delivery would be to his advantage, as his style differs from the majority of pitchers. Gillenwater delivered the ball much after the manner of Howard Blake, and it is expected that the Boston Red Sox pitcher that day.

Gillenwater showed a fairly good command of the ball. He was like the saying that Walter Johnson used when he broke in. He also had on top a fairly good curve. However, I have seen scores of pitchers break into the majors with far more stuff than did Gillenwater and fail. After the first few innings it was apparent to me that Gillenwater had control. Any time he was in the hole he seemed able to get the ball over the plate. All the young men did was shut out Boston 3 to 0, allowing only four hits. Before a remarkable feat for a "rookie" pitcher in his first start, even though it was recorded against a talentless team.

The trouble with many young pitchers breaking into the majors for the first time is that they overlook the fundamentals of pitching, of which control is the very first lesson. They are too busy trying to throw the knuckle ball or the fadeaway. After all, there is nothing like speed, curves and a change of pace for a pitcher.

Thus control, really good pitchers go in for the break stuff. If the young pitcher in the minors who seek to make the big show would lay aside all their freak deliveries and get control, their curve and fast one would get them by and we would have much better pitching in the majors.

Today's coupon. In addition to this, double votes will be given all day tomorrow at Ricard's store with every purchase of 10 cents or over. The final standing of the contest will be published the latter part of next week. Watch for it.

Who's going to win?

Right now that's the big question in the sport world. But nobody's any more interested in the probable outcome of the little party at the Polo grounds, Sept. 24, than Jess Willard.

Jess has fought both men. And if anyone knows anything about their ring manners, it's certainly Jess.

Willard is going to let the readers of The Sun and its associated newspapers of the NEA Service in on his big secret. He has written a series of articles setting up the champion and the Argentine challenger.

His first story appears in tomorrow's issue of The Sun.

BILL JOHNSTON MEETS JAMES O. ANDERSON

FOREST HILLS, Aug. 31.—Little Bill Johnston, twice American national tennis champion, takes the brunt of the Australian Davis cup contenders' attack today on the courts of the West Side Tennis club when he meets James O. Anderson, in the first of the singles events. Johnston beat the Australian last year, but despite that he has a little before him. Anderson is no mean victim without a struggle.

In the second match Bill Tilden faces John R. Hawkes, but according to past performances this match should be nothing more than exercise for the American.

Anderson announced that he and Hawkes would play in the doubles event tomorrow, but Captain Williams of the United States team was not ready to name his partner for the doubles, and will not do so until this afternoon.

The final singles will bring the matches to a close on Monday.

IN "STARVING" GERMANY

Most of the recent reports from Germany have painted a picture of a starving, impoverished population. In this picture there isn't a rib showing. It was taken at Norderney, popular sea-side resort, and shows that the old-fashioned corn fed girl is still to be seen in Germany.

This picture also was taken at Norderney. Silk pajamas are quite the vogue there for beach wear. Festivities along the shore do not indicate any worry over economic conditions.

50 NUNS NARROWLY ESCAPED DEATH IN FIRE

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 30.—Fifty nuns had narrow escapes from death or injury this morning when fire gutted the second and third stories of St. Mary's convent, a four-story structure in North Canal street. One of the nuns discovered the flames and sounded a alarm in the building. The occupants, several of whom are ill and had to be aided in escaping, took refuge first in nearby homes and later in a community house. The cause of the fire, which caused $40,000 damage, has not been determined.

TO UNIONIZE STEEL INDUSTRY

CLEVELAND, O., Aug. 30.—Addressing several hundred steel workers at the first organization rally held here under the auspices of the steel industries council, speakers last night declared that the "steel trust" in using the eight-hour day as a means to further cut the pay of its workers has assured the success of our campaign to unionize the industry.

PRISONER TURNED BACK

Tried to Flee Deer Island—
Later Found Attempting to Break His Way in Again

BOSTON, Aug. 30.—A prisoner who tried to escape from the Deer Island house of correction early today was caught as he was trying to break his way in again. Elmer P. Libby, serving a year's sentence for larceny of an automobile, climbed through a window and made his way down a ladder from the fourth story of the new prison in which the work of placing bars on the windows had not been finished. He was missed soon afterward and a search of the island was made without result. An officer making his rounds some time later found Libby crawling back through the window. He said he had tried to swim "Shirley gut to the mainland, but the current was too strong."

GOODWIN MOVES TO STOP WILD DRIVING AT NIGHT

BOSTON, Aug. 30.—In a letter Capt. George A. Parker of the state police patrol made public today Frank A. Goodwin, registrar of motor vehicles, requests that patrol officers stop every one operating a motor car at an unreasonable rate of speed late at night.

"The alarming increase in fatal and serious motor vehicle accidents on the highways in the late hours of the night and early in the morning calls for an immediate remedy," says the registrar.

It seems to me that your force is the only one that can help the situation. Hundreds of reckless and drunken operators are speeding along our highways during these hours coming from camps and road houses. I would like to suggest that you ask your men to stop every one operating at an unreasonable rate of speed, send his name to me and I shall take his license away."

Memorial Auditorium Scintillated Yesterday Afternoon and Evening in an Array of Colorful Costumes Worn by the Boys and Girls of the City Playgrounds—Spectators Charmed With Picturesque Vision of Changing Tents and Wonderful Dancing by the Young Folks—Most Spectacular and Successful Closing in History of Local Playgrounds

Wonderful costumes, accomplished acting, and undisturbed entertainment featured the historical pageant in the Memorial Auditorium yesterday afternoon and last evening on the occasion of the closing exercises of the city's playground, participated in by approximately 250 children, who lived the history of the city from the time of its habitation by native Indians up to the present day. Under the direction of the various playground supervisors, who applied themselves devotedly to the preparations for the big event, an unparalleled program of imitation dances, depicting in chronological order the settlement of the city, was given without the least interruption and with apparent intimacy by the youthful members of the cast.

The afternoon affair was attended by thousands of children anxious to see their playground and friends in public demonstration, while the evening performance was given principally for the benefit of the mothers, fathers, relatives and friends who were unable to view the spectacle at the matinee. Crowded houses prevailed at both performances and everyone expressed satisfaction with the accomplishment.

The various costumes, representative of the nationality portrayed, were designed by the playground supervisors and made by the children personally under the direction of the sewing teachers. The display of dress sense of action for the fanciful costumes, expertly made, was enough to test the credulity of the audience, which marveled at the craftsmanship employed by the young girls in the line of sewing. To the sewing teachers and the playground supervisors, the playground pageant is due. Their efforts were rewarded a hundredfold, while the children themselves profited immeasurably by the experience gained.

Among the special guests present in costumes of the Revolutionary period during the afternoon exercises were Mayor Donovan, Supt. John W. Kersey, Asst. Supervisor of Playgrounds Arthur C. Sullivan and Supt. of Schools Hugh J. Mollie. A group of sisters from the immaculate Conception school enjoyed the program in reserved seats. In the evening, the park department was represented by Harvey B. Green, who extended greetings to the audience and thanked the mothers and fathers for their interest in the welfare of playground endeavors. He also congratulated the supervisors and the children in their care for the systematized effort in presenting such a elaborate exhibition.

RECEPTION TO SULLIVAN

C. Y. M. L. Votes $100 and Appoints Committee—Reception to John Conlon

After a discussion of plans suggested as fitting for a welcome home reception to their brother member, Henry Sullivan, the Catholic Young Men's League voted $100 towards the public subscription list and a committee of ten was named to solicit subscriptions from the people of the city.

Following the action in regard to the Sullivan reception, the members of the league expressed an opinion that John Conlon, Henry Sullivan's trainer, should also be honored at a reception of some sort upon his return. Only tentative plans for this reception were made.

FORMAL OPENING OF NEW POSTAL STATION

Tomorrow morning at 8 o'clock the new Centralville postoffice will be formally opened when Postmaster Xavier A. Delisle will sell the first stamp to Congressman John Jacob Rogers. The new station, situated on Bridge street between West Fourth and West Fifth streets, will fill a much-needed want in the growing section of the city, facilitate the delivery of mail and reduce the increasing congestion in the old station.

XAVIER A. DELISLE, Postmaster

An election committee was named to prepare a list of candidates for the annual election, Sept. 5, and is as follows: John F. Murphy, chairman; James McMahon, Harold B. Sullivan, James McPhillips and John McIndale. Following a discussion of other business, the meeting was adjourned by the president, Harold B. Sullivan.

EVERYBODY IS IN "THE SWIM FOR SULLIVAN"

The Centralville Improvement association has entered "the swim for Sullivan" and at a well attended meeting last night, presided over by Thomas F. Garvey, plans for the reception were discussed and the following delegates chosen to act in conjunction with the city-wide committee: Thomas F. Garvey, Sr., Charles H. Garmon, Nathan G. Lamson, John J. Mahoney, E. A. Wilson, Joseph W. Burns, E. Gaston Campbell, Rev. Willard A. Kilmer, Dr. Michael A. Tiele and John Hawkins. John J. Mahoney was appointed to represent the association as a committee of one from each organization in the city.

An added feature of last night's meeting was a communication from Postmaster Delisle that the new post office, situated on Bridge street between Fourth and Fifth streets will be opened for business tomorrow morning, September 1.

It was announced by the committee in charge of the circulation of petitions for the establishment of a waiting room in Kennedy square by the Eastern Massachusetts Street Railway company, that hearty cooperation was being received. A vote of thanks was accorded the park department for entertainment furnished the Centralville section of the city during the summer months and to Mayor Donovan for a band concert in West Centralville on a recent Sunday afternoon.

MADE MISTAKE IN DATE

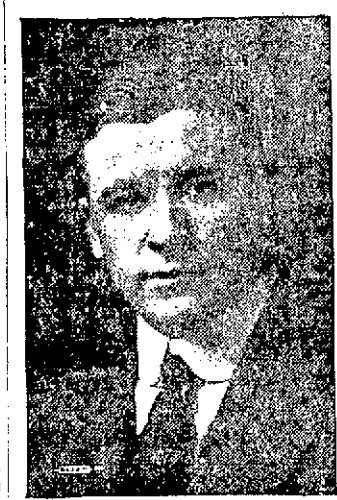

Nothing Doing on Conference Called to Discuss Underground Wire Proposition

Through an error in the records of the city council, representatives of the various local public corporations made an unnecessary trip to city hall late yesterday afternoon. Some time ago the city council, at the request of Councilor Cosgrove voted to hold a conference with representatives of the Lowell Electric Light Corp., New England Telephone Co., Postal Telegraph Co. and Western Union Telegraph Co. as well as with the members of the public service board and inspector of wires, and Tuesday, Sept. 4, was set as the date for the conference.

The public service board was notified of the council's action, but the notice stated that the conference was to be arranged by the board, and a last Saturday's meeting of the board, Thursday, August 26, was set as the date and the various corporations were notified. All the corporations but the Western Union Telegraph Co. sent representatives to the hall late yesterday afternoon. Councilors Cosgrove and Daley were also present. The men were called together by Mr. Long, secretary of the board, but the absence of Councilman Murphy, but Councilor Cosgrove pointed out that there must be a mistake somewhere as the conference was scheduled for Sept. 4, and not before the public service board, but before the council.

WILL AID IN RECEPTION TO HENRY SULLIVAN

The Non-commissioned Officers' Association of the Organized Reserves voted last night to lend their aid in whatever way is possible to make the reception to Henry Sullivan a success, when the world-famed swimmer returns to his home in this city from England.

JAMES J. BRUIN, General Chairman

The general chairman of the committee in charge of Sullivan's reception, James J. Bruin, together with Edward J. Cooney of the publicity committee, attended last night's meeting and outlined the plans already formulated for the welcome home celebration.

There was a good deal of enthusiasm shown by the members and all agreed to do their bit to make the event one long to be remembered in the annals of Lowell. Max Francis J. Tooley, executive officer of the association, was named as the association's representative on the general committee.

The meeting was presided over by Vice-President Sargent and a report was received on the committee on by-laws. The matter of forming a bowling league this winter was also discussed.

PLANNING EXPERTS INVITED TO LOWELL

Arthur A. Shurtleff of Boston, an expert in city planning, will address the public of Lowell at a public meeting to be held at the Memorial Auditorium next month.

It is probable that Edwin T. Hartman, another expert city planner of Lexington, will also be heard at the same meeting.

The proposed meeting was discussed at length at a special meeting of the city planning board held in the mayor's reception room at city hall last evening. Present at the meeting were Chairman Patrick O'Hearn, Secretary R. M. Humphrey, Dr. G. O. Lavallee, Michael A. Lee, H. J. Ponzani and George A. Connor.

Mr. O'Hearn read a letter from Mr. Shurtleff in which he recommended that the services of Mr. Hartman be secured for the public meeting as the latter is a planning expert, who has interviewed 42 of the 62 planning boards of the state. The chairman and secretary of the board were authorized to communicate with both Messrs. Shurtleff and Hartman and determine whether or not both will be able to speak in Lowell and what dates they have available.

There was no action taken on the petition for the erection of a bill board at the junction of Perkins and Tucker streets, which was referred to the board by the council. In explanation it was stated the authority of the board in that respect has not yet been defined.

MECHANIC "PHALANX" ASSOCIATION SHOOT

At the meeting of the Mechanic "Phalanx" association held at the "Arms" last evening, final arrangements were made for the annual "shoot" of the organization to be held at the Dracut range tomorrow, Sept. 1. Communications were read from Congressman Rogers and Mayor Donovan signifying their intention to be present. Prizes have been donated by all the leading merchants in the city in addition to many others from friends of the "phalanx."

An argument of long standing will be ended on Saturday when two of the oldest members of the organization will meet in a match to decide which is the best marksman. These two men, C. Oliver Barnes and Thomas Douchet are Civil war veterans. There will be automobiles furnished for the transportation of other Civil war veterans to and from the range. The matches will start at 2 p. m. and dinner will be served at 5 p. m. There will be refreshments served, as in past events, between the matches. Besides Congressman Rogers and Mayor Donovan invitations have been sent to the city council and others.

LOWELL BOYS HONORED AT HOLY CROSS

With a combined average of 87½ per cent, William H. McCann of this city, a graduate of the Lowell high school with the class of 1921, has received the gold medals as sophomore in Latin, Greek and English at Holy Cross college, Worcester. McCann also won the silver medal in general chemistry and the premiums in English composition, evidences of religion and mechanics.

DUFFS ARE COMING BACK NEXT WEEK

Walter Allman, creator of the comic strip, "Doings of The Duffs," is back on the job, after an illness of several weeks.

And Tom, Helen, Danny, Betty Jane, Olivia, Wilbur and Doris are back with him. Hence the "Doings of the Duffs" will appear again next week.

TRADES AND LABOR COUNCIL PLANS ELABORATE PROGRAM FOR LABOR DAY OBSERVANCE

One of the most elaborate programs ever put on in this city by the Trades and Labor council will mark the celebration of Labor day next Monday. The council has named a committee from the council to prepare a program that would fittingly mark the day as labor's own and the program drawn up by them is now complete. Three band concerts, a program of sports, and a mass meeting in the Memorial Auditorium makes up the celebration. The first band concert will be given at the Chelmsford Street hospital from 10 a. m. to 12 noon by the Lowell Military band, led by J. H. Midgley. The second band concert will be given at the South common from 2 to 4 p. m. by the Lowell Cadet band, led by John J. Giblin. The third and last concert will be given on the steps of the Auditorium from 7 to 7:45 p. m. and inside the Auditorium from 8:30 to 10 o'clock by Regan's Military band, William Regan conducting. The sports program will be run off at the South common, starting at 1 p. m. and continuing until 5 p. m.

MAN ARRESTED FOR LARCENY OF AUTO SAYS WIFE CAUSE OF HIS TROUBLES

The infidelity of the woman whom he led to the altar and made his wife, even under the pain of being disowned by his mother and father, is the reason given by William S. Smith, who was brought here last night from Bangor, to answer to a charge of theft of an auto, for falling into the clutches of the law. But he still loves her, he said this morning, and try as he might he cannot forget her. "She left me twice," said Smith. "I am lame and she probably wanted a man who was not physically handicapped as I am. But I can't forget her. I worked for her, worked hard for her, but she didn't care. When she left me the last time I had about $1000 and I have been touring around the country, trying to forget. "But I can't forget. There's nothing for me to live for now, with her gone out of my life. I wish I had ended my misery for all time. Life means nothing to me now and I mean nothing to her."

Miners and Hard Coal Operators Conditionally Accept Governor Pinchot's Peace Proposal

HARRISBURG, Pa., Aug. 31. (By the Associated Press.)—Anthracite operators and miners union officials today returned answer to Gov. Pinchot's peace proposals for averting mine suspension, the miners accepting them as a basis for continuing negotiation and the operators, while objecting to the flat ten percent wage increase, accepting it on condition that an agreement putting it into effect over a long term of years be effected.

The proposed ten per cent. increase in wages which the governor offered, the union answer found to be unsatisfactory. It reiterated the demand for "check-off" collection of union dues.

No assurance was given that the union would withdraw the suspension order which takes effect at midnite today, but the union was declared to be ready to go again into joint conference with the operators on the governor's proposal.

Reply at Noon Today

HARRISBURG, Pa., Aug. 31. (By the A. P.)—With just 12 hours to go before the miners' union order for a suspension of operations becomes effective in the anthracite field, Governor Pinchot called for noon today a final session of operators and miners union officials who represent both sides in the controversy at which he asked their answer to his proposals for a peaceful settlement. Both groups of men were on hand with written responses, to present the sentiment of the organizations they represented, though the governor asked them both to withhold any publication of their views until after his private session.

The miners' union response, prepared by John L. Lewis, international president of the United Mine Workers, and his associates, was to be put early before a meeting of the peace committee of the organization for ratification. Operators met yesterday at Philadelphia and the closely guarded text of their answer was brought to the capital by S. P. Warriner, chairman of the peace committee.

Thousands to Quit Work

WILKESBARRE, Pa., Aug. 31.—Thousands of miners in the Wyoming valley quit work today in obedience to the suspension order issued by the United Mine Workers because of the failure of the union leaders to work out a new wage scale to replace the one which expires tonight.

APPOINTMENTS AND CHANGES IN OBLATE CLERGYMEN ANNOUNCED BY VERY REV. FR. TIGHE

REV. DENIS A. SULLIVAN, O. M. I.

REV. JOHN C. DUFFY, O. M. I.

Rev. Fr. Flynn, O.M.I., Becomes Superior of Tewksbury Novitiate—Rev. Denis A. Sullivan, O.M.I., Pastor of Sacred Heart—Rev. John C. Duffy, O.M.I., Named As Superior of Immaculate Conception Parish

Very Rev. Fr. Tighe, provincial of the Oblate Order, has announced the following changes in clergyman to go into effect at once: Rev. John C. Duffy, O.M.I., who has served two terms as master of novices at the Tewksbury novitiate becomes superior of the Immaculate Conception church, Rev. John P. Flynn, O.M.I., who has been superior and pastor of the Sacred Heart church for about thirteen years, will take Rev. Fr. Duffy's place as master of novices at the Tewksbury novitiate. Rev. Denis A. Sullivan, O.M.I., first assistant at the Immaculate Conception church, becomes superior of the Sacred Heart church, Rev. Owen P. McQuaid, O.M.I., is promoted to first assistant at the Immaculate Conception and is also named as superior. Rev. Charles Barry, O.M.I., one of the young men at the Sacred Heart, is named as master of that parish. The new arrangement at the Immaculate Conception church, Rev. Fr. Flynn and Rev. Fr. Sullivan are well known to the Catholics of the city. Rev. Fr. Flynn has been very successful in building up the parish during his incumbency and he has almost completed a fine new rectory, novitiate, Rev. Denis A. Sullivan, O.M.I., first assistant at the Immaculate Conception church, but most of his time has been spent in giving missions. He is well and favorably known in the city. Father Duffy was born in Lowell and received his early education in the Immaculate Conception parochial school. Upon completion of the grammar course there he entered Lowell high school. PICNIC AND DANCE IN AID OF CHURCH FUND

A picnic and dance is to be held at Willow Dale on Labor day, the proceeds of which are to go to St. Joseph's Lithuanian church to aid in swelling the church fund. Extensive repairs are being made in the church at present, which will amount to $2500, and it is hoped that a goodly sum will be realized at the event to be held on the holiday. Music for the dance will be furnished by a good orchestra and all who attend the affair are assured a pleasant afternoon and evening.

THE LOWELL BOYS' CLUB

Organization in Dutton Street

on Tuesday

The Lowell Boys' Club in Dutton Street will enter upon its 23rd season next Tuesday evening when the doors of this popular and non-sectarian rendezvous of the city's youth open for the fall and winter periods of activity. The club, organized in 1900 and incorporated under the laws of the commonwealth, will provide enjoyment for thousands of the city's younger element, and with all the rooms newly-painted and renovated, the coming season bids fair to out-do any of its predecessors. And this is saying a great deal when it is taken into consideration that over 145,000 boys were admitted to last year, for according to the official records prepared by Major Walter R. Jeyes, superintendent of the club, provisions were made for this number during the past season. The superintendent's records show also that 227 regulation basketball games were played on the modern court in the club in 1922-23; 62,000 boys attended the moving picture shows; 14,000 used the billiard and pool tables; employment was obtained for 52, and the club entertained 1256 visitors.

MAJOR WALTER R. JEYES

The present membership of the organization averages between 1500 and 1600 and comprises, by actual count, 23 nationalities. Every conceivable form of athletic paraphernalia, including basketball equipment, running track, gaming room, hot and cold water showers, a reading room containing over 5000 volumes of boys' books, periodicals and magazines, is housed in the Dutton street structures. Three moving picture machines furnish entertainment one night each week, while social gatherings are featured at various times during the season. Musical entertainment is furnished by club talent and by a phonograph, with a cabinet containing several hundred records.

The ages for enrollment vary between five and 20. For the coming season the clubrooms will be open all day on occasions when there is no school, while on school days, the doors will remain open from the close of school hours in the afternoon until 5 o'clock in the evening. At present Maj. Jeyes is preparing a lengthy list of events for the coming season.

THE KIMBALL SCHOOL WILL OPEN TUESDAY

Next Tuesday The Kimball school of this city begins its sixty-fifth school year. Founded in 1859, before the Civil war, it is one of the oldest private commercial schools in this country.

Its courses of study in the secretarial and accounting field are designed to give young men and women a training which will enable them to earn their own way in life in the course of one school year. This is accomplished by eliminating all studies which are not intimately connected with commercial work, and also by the tutorial method of teaching whereby each pupil advances individually and covers as much ground each day as he can with the personal assistance of the instructors. This method of teaching allows an apt pupil to progress as fast as his ability will permit; likewise a slower pupil is encouraged and assisted in such a way that unusual progress is made.

This school has acquired much publicity the past few years on account of the success of its pupils in various typewriting contests. For three years in succession the Kimball school representatives won the trophies of the N. E. Business College association, which is composed of thirty of the leading New England Business colleges. The Lowell school has never been beaten in a contest by any Boston school or college.

enrollments for the fall term, which begins on September 4, are much larger than usual. Evening courses will be resumed on September 10.

SEEKING JOHN BRIEN

A telegram was received here yesterday from Edward Brien of Bern, Kansas, requesting information about John Brien, whose mother died in Bern, Wednesday night. It was believed that Brien once worked here for the street railway. Any information will be appreciated if reported to Sup. of Police Thomas R. Atkinson.

FUNERALS

DONLON—James E. Donlon of 116 Congress street, well known conductor and starter for the Eastern Massachusetts St. Ry. Co., died this morning at the Lowell Corporation hospital after a lingering illness. Mr. Donlon had been in the employ of the street railway company since July 5, 1901, and up to the time of the advent of the one-man cars a few years ago had worked on the Filley street line. During the past few years his illness had made it practically impossible for him to work steadily. In May of this year he was appointed starter at Lakeview and served in that capacity until stricken with the illness that proved fatal. Since early in July he had been unable to work and had been at the Corporation hospital most of the time. Recently there had been slight hopes held out for his recovery, but such hopes were vain for he passed away at about 8 o'clock this morning. Mr. Donlon was a popular member of Lowell St. Amalgamated Association of Street and Electric Railway Employees. He leaves his wife, Mrs. Mary (McLennan) Donlon; one daughter, Esther; his mother, Mrs. Bridget Donlon, and three brothers, John, Thomas and Michael, the latter night starter for the street railway company in the square. The body was removed to the home of his mother, 4 Livingston street, by Undertakers O'Connell & Sons.

MCCARTHY—The funeral of Mrs. Catherine (Hines) McCarthy took place this morning at 8:30 o'clock from her home, 34 Shaw street and was largely attended by sorrowing relatives and friends including a number from out of town. The cortege proceeded to St. Patrick's church where at 9 o'clock a funeral high mass was sung by Rev. John McFadden, the choir under the direction of Mr. James E. Donnelly, rendered the Gregorian chant, the solos being sustained by Mr. Donnelly and Mr. Joseph E. Donnelly. Miss Gertrude Quigley presiding at the organ. There was a profusion of beautiful floral tributes and of spiritual benedictions. The bearers were Henry Riley, John O'Neil, Philip Sullivan, George O'Dea, Thomas Hines and John Ryan. At the grave the Rev. P. Grant pastor of St. Mary's church, Ayer, Mass., read the committal prayers and the burial was in St. Mary's cemetery. Arrangements in charge of Undertakers James E. O'Donnell & Sons.

SULLIVAN—The funeral of Warren J. Sullivan took place this morning at 8:30 o'clock from his home, 753 Beacon street, Boston, and proceeded to St. Cecilia's church where at 9 o'clock a mass of requiem was celebrated by Rev. David Ryan. The choir under the direction of Mrs. Mary Dwyer rendered the Gregorian chant, the solos in the mass being sustained by Miss O'Brien, Miss Dwyer presiding at the organ. The bearers were Messrs. George Arnold, Charles McClure, Walter Merrill, Oscar Kievers, Harry Collier and Oscar McManis. There were many floral offerings. The burial was in the family lot in St. Joseph's cemetery where the committal prayers were read by Rev. William Brennan. The funeral was under the direction of Undertakers James E. O'Donnell & Sons.

CORCHESNE—The funeral of Emma Corchesne took place this morning at 8:30 o'clock from the funeral parlors of Undertakers Amadee Archambault & Sons in Merrimack street. High mass of requiem was celebrated at St. Jean Baptiste church at 9 o'clock by Very Rev. J. E. Turcotte, O.M.I. The choir under the direction of J. E. Turcotte, who also presided at the organ, rendered the Gregorian chant. The bearers were Joseph Provost, John T. Vincent, Philippe Vincent and Charles Masson. Burial was in St. Patrick's cemetery, where the committal prayers were read by Rev.

DELUDE—Died in this city, Aug. 30, at St. John's hospital, Edmund Delude, 514 Vinal street, Collingsville, Mass. Burial will take place from the home of his sister, Miss Marie Louise Delude, 515 Merrimack street, Saturday morning at 8:30 o'clock. Solemn high funeral mass at St. Joseph's church at 9 o'clock. Friends invited to attend. Funeral Director John A. Weinlock in charge.

DONLON—Died Aug. 29, at his home, 116 Congress street, James E. Donlon, conductor and starter for the Eastern Massachusetts St. Ry. Co. The funeral will take place Saturday morning at 9 o'clock from his home and at 10 o'clock a solemn high mass of requiem will be celebrated at St. Michael's church. Burial will be in the family lot in St. Patrick's cemetery. The funeral will be under the direction of Undertakers James E. O'Donnell & Sons.

MAGUIRE—Died at her home, 178 Pleasant street, Aug. 31, Mrs. Mary Maguire. Funeral Saturday morning at 8 o'clock from her home and at 9 o'clock a mass of requiem will be celebrated at the Immaculate Conception church. Burial will be in the family lot in St. Patrick's cemetery. The funeral will be under the direction of Undertakers James E. O'Donnell & Sons.

CORBIN—The funeral of Auguste Corbin will take place tomorrow morning at 7:30 o'clock from the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Corbin, 115 Riverside street. High mass of requiem at St. Jeanne d'Arc church at 8 o'clock. Burial in St. Joseph's cemetery. Funeral arrangements in charge of Undertakers O'Connell & Poy.

MCKENNA—Died Aug. 29, Mrs. Margaret M. McKenna. Funeral will take place Saturday morning at 8 o'clock from the home of her daughter, Mrs. John J. Devlin, 367 Thorndike street. CARD OF THANKS

In the hour of our great sorrow in the death of our beloved wife, daughter and sister, the words of consolation and the expressions of love from neighbors and friends, the many beautiful and fragrant bouquets and the spiritual benedictions, will ever remain in our hearts as a memorial to her life and character. Grief is assuaged by the kindly personal ministrations of those who share our sorrow.

WALTER WHITNEY,
MR. PATRICK KELLEY and Family.

STREET PAVING SCHEDULE

With the paving for Nesmith street between the car tracks, additional paving in Fletcher street and the paving of the curve at Burton and Merrimack streets, the paving schedule for the year is being increased by 270 square yards, bringing it to the same level as the paving of last year. City Engineer Kearney stated today that this year's reinforced concrete schedule is greater than last year, but nevertheless he expects to wind up with all the work of the department in due season.

Ten Cents Goes Long Ways

PETER SIRBU

By N. E. A. Service
YOUNGSTOWN, O., Aug. 31.—Peter Sirbu, 5, claims the prize for traveling the farthest on the least money. With a suitcase several sizes too large for him and 10 cents in cash he boarded a railroad train and landed in Jersey City.

The conductor didn't ask Peter for a penny.

When Peter landed in Jersey City with his 10 cents, friendly policemen took him in charge.

However, dad declared that his son was too young to see the world, so he wired authorities to put Peter aboard a train and send him home.

"I wanted to see the world," Peter told his parents.

NOT A POLICY OF AGGRESSION

Sec. Hughes Discusses Monroe Doctrine Before American Bar Association

Declares Doctrine Not Policy of Aggression—It is Policy of Self-Defense

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Aug. 31.—The Monroe Doctrine was defined here last night by Secretary Hughes as embodying a policy vitally related to national safety, inimical to no just interest in Latin America or elsewhere, and imposing no barrier to wider international co-operation in the promotion of peace and understanding.

Speaking before the American Bar Association, the secretary declared that while the doctrine in no way established a "protectorate" over other American republics, American rights and obligations not specifically outlined by Monroe in his famous message had sometimes made intervention in some Latin American states an absolute necessity. He recalled that the right to intervene in Cuba is a matter of record in the treaty of 1898, although he added that the United States would rather, if possible, continue in its present role of "friendly adviser."

"Taking the doctrine as it has been and as it is believed to remain," said Mr. Hughes, "I desire to comment upon certain points, which, as I believe, deserve special emphasis at this time."

"First, The Monroe Doctrine is not a policy of aggression; it is a policy of self-defense. It was asserted at a time when the danger of foreign aggression in this hemisphere was very real, when the new American states had not yet established national life, and we were menaced by threats of old world powers directed against republican institutions. But the achievements of the century have not altered the scope of the doctrine or changed its basis. It still remains an assertion of the principle of national security. As such, it is obviously not exclusive."

"Second, As the policy embodied in the Monroe Doctrine is distinctively the policy of the United States, the government of the United States reserves to itself its definition, interpretation, and application. This government has welcomed the recognition by other governments of the fact and soundness of this policy and of the appropriateness of its application from time to time.

"But the United States has not been disposed to enter into engagements which would have the effect of submitting to any other power or to any concert of powers the determination either of the occasions upon which the principles of the Monroe Doctrine shall be invoked or of the measures that shall be taken in giving it effect. As President Wilson observed: 'The Monroe Doctrine was proclaimed by the United States on her own authority. It always has been maintained and always will be maintained upon her own responsibility.'

"This implies neither suspicion nor estrangement. It simply means that the United States is asserting separate national rights of self-defense, and that in the exercise of this right it must have an unhampered discretion.

"Third, The policy of the Monroe Doctrine does not interfere upon the independence and sovereignty of other American states. Misconception upon this point is the only disturbing influence in our relations with Latin American states. The declaration of our purpose to oppose what is inimical to our safety does not imply an attempt to establish a protectorate any more than a similar assertion by any one of the great southern republics of opposition to conduct on the part of any of the others endangering its security would aim at the establishment of a protectorate.

"Fourth, There are, indeed, modern

conditions and recent events which can not fail to engage our attention. We have grown rich and powerful. But we have not outgrown the necessity, in justice to ourselves and without injustice to others, of safeguarding our future peace and security. By building the Panama canal we have not only established a new and convenient highway of commerce but we have created expediences and new conditions of strategy and defense. It is for us to protect that highway. It may also be necessary for us at some time to build another canal between the Atlantic and the Pacific oceans and to protect that. I believe that the sentiment of the American people is practically unanimous that in the interest of our national safety we could not yield to any foreign power the control of the Panama canal, or the approaches to it, or the obtaining of any position which would interfere with our right of protection or would menace the freedom of our communications.

"Our attitude is one of independence, not of isolation. Our people are still intent upon obtaining from participation in the political strife of Europe. They are not disposed to commit this government in advance to the use of its power in known contingencies, preferring to reserve freedom of action in the confidence of our ability and readiness to respond to every future call of duty. They have no desire to put their power in pledge, but they do not shrink co-operation with other nations whenever there is a sound basis for it and a consciousness of community of interest and aim. Co-operation is not dictation, and it is not partnership. On our part it must be the co-operation of a free people.

drawing their strength from many racial stocks, and a co-operation that made possible by a predominant sentiment permitting governmental action under a system which denies all exercise of autocratic power. It will be the co-operation of a people of liberal ideals, deeply concerned with the maintenance of peace and interested in all measures which find support in the common-sense of the country as being practicable and well designed to foster common interests.

"To such aims the Monroe Doctrine is not opposed, and with the passing of 100 years it remains a cherished policy, inimical to no just interest and deemed to be vitally related to our own safety and to the peaceful progress of the people of this hemisphere."

NORTH STARS WIN

The North Stars defeated the Lisbons last Wednesday evening by the score of 7 to 0. The pitching of Turpin for the winners was a feature. McNulty, D. Davis, J. Gath, D. Donahue, J. Cook, A. Bettecourt and C. Turpin.

Four Years of Stomach Trouble Relieved by Three Bottles of O'Brien's

Prominent Medford Man Indorses Old Stomach Remedy

That prominent men do not hesitate to testify to the benefits to be derived from a high-grade article is readily demonstrated here. James Norton, Medford, Mass., widely known in that town, writes this about O'Brien's for Dyspepsia:

"It gives me great pleasure to state my experience with O'Brien's for Dyspepsia. I have been troubled for four years with a case of indigestion, and have tried several different remedies, but they were of no use. Someone suggested that I try O'Brien's. I have tried three bottles and am thoroughly well again."

Four years of suffering relieved by three bottles of O'Brien's! Isn't that encouraging? Wouldn't your case respond, too? If you have stomach trouble of any kind—Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Heartburn, Colic, Ulcerated Stomach, Gastritis, Nausea, or other stomach disorders—we recommend O'Brien's—O'Brien's the preparation compounded after the prescription of a Massachusetts doctor. Ever since 1898 this fine old formula has been bringing health and happiness to those made miserable by a moribund stomach.

Your health is at stake—why should you lose your normal vigor? Why should you suffer through sleepless nights or endure that laggard feeling? Especially when all you need do is take O'Brien's at no risk to you. If it does not benefit you, your money will be refunded in accordance with the money-back guarantee that goes with each bottle. Vegetable Tonic is Nature's Corrective For Constipation

Temporary relief and lasting relief from constipation are two entirely different things. And how can you expect lasting relief from harsh cathartics that pain and gripe you, injure the delicate intestines and often leave you more constipated than ever when the harsh drug effect wears off?

Get quick, lasting relief! Dr. H. S. Thacher, the noted stomach specialist, perfected a delicious vegetable tonic that is now being used in the treatment of constipation among adults and children, because it is well suited to the sensitive stomach and delicate intestines, and helps you strengthen them so that your bowels move gently, naturally and thoroughly without the need of cathartics and purgatives.

This nourishing tonic, known as Dr.

ST. ANNE'S CHOIR
TO RESUME PRACTICE

St. Anne's choir will resume practice for the fall season this evening, 7, in the absence of William C. Heller, who has directed the choir for many seasons.

sons, Albert Edmund Brown will take charge. Mr. Heller is expected to return about the middle of October. Miss Helen Bugshaw will preside at the organ. The boys of the choir are asked to report at 7 p. m. and the men at 7:45.

The resumption of practice calls attention to this choir which is one of the historic institutions in the city. From generation to generation, the chorists of St. Anne's have served in Lowell's oldest church for the glory of God and all parishioners will be glad to see them resume activities for the winter season.

IS RADIO WANING?

It's Just an "Accepted" Part of Home Routine—Many Homes Have Receiving Sets

Every prediction made for radio two years ago, when first it gained popularity, has come true. For that reason, despite a generally "accepted" belief by the public, radio is more firmly entrenched than ever.

Two years ago radio was called a fad. People said it wouldn't last. They predicted that newspapers would cut down gradually, the space devoted to the newest of inventions and as they cut down, interest would lag until one would rarely hear the word radio spoken on the street.

That has happened. But those "on the inside" stoutly maintained that radio's natural evolution would be in that groove. When the radio idea had spread until it would invade an astonishing number of homes, these insiders knew "talk" about radio would cease.

It would then be "accepted" like the telephone, the motor car. One doesn't read columns about the telephone, does he? Well, said manufacturers and others, it will be that way about radio.

Millions of homes today have radio sets. People don't purposely stay at home to listen in anymore. For the number of fans is far greater than it ever was before. Men high in the world of industry and profession are just as deeply interested as they were two years ago.

The difference is they don't talk about it. They accept it, along with the other routine of home life. It means just as much to them as the phonograph. No more.

To the government's bureau of agriculture radio is now vital. Vast amounts of news important to farming communities is broadcast daily. But you don't hear of it so much. It's just part of the routine.

And so it goes in other fields.

WILL TAKE BICYCLE TRIP TO NEW YORK

A bicycle trip from Lowell to New York will be undertaken next week by four young men employees of the Massachusetts mills, which will close next week to allow its employees a vacation. Thomas McAndrews of 81 West Third street, a well-known cyclist, is in charge of the trip.

The party will leave Lowell Sunday morning and go by way of Worcester, Springfield, New Haven to New York. The return trip will be made along the shore route. New York to New Haven, New London, Providence and then up to Boston and home. The only equipment carried will be a blanket for use when sleeping out.

Each bicycle will be placarded "Lowell to New York" and each young man in the party will carry a notepad in which he will get a postoffice stamp of the many towns passed through. Upon arriving in New York they hope to see Mayor Hylan and get his signature as a souvenir of the trip.

If any other hardy young men desire to accompany this party, they will be glad to take them along.

AMUSEMENT NOTES

U. P. KEITH'S THEATRE

Bob Hall, who mixes things up with great speed during the show at the U. P. Keith theatre, this week has one song which stands out pre-eminently in his repertoire. It is "Sunshine," and to the melody he sets words on a variety of subjects. Hall is an extemporaneous comedian and maker of songs, and he is one of the week's big favorites. Murray Kisson & Co. in "The Barber of Seville," give much of fun and a lot of melody. Blaine & Marshall have an act of singing and dancing, the male member being the singer, while Miss Blaine does a very neat blackface act.

Ones & De Lour are cyclonic dancers, and Betty Washington, violinist, charms as much by her personality as with her playing. The Nathano Bros. are comedy roller skaters. "Masters of Men," by superb cast, concludes the bill.

HIALTO THEATRE

The Hialto's program for tonight only includes Charles Ray in "Scrap Iron" and Ralph Connor in "The Sky Pilot" with Colleen Moore, John Bowler and David Butler. Tomorrow's change of program brings an excellent bill of pictures. Marshall Kellan's great newspaper story, "Go and Get It," will be shown, together with a film version of Jack London's well known sea story, "The Sea Wolf." Most everyone has seen or heard about "Go and Get It." It is a picture, once seen, will never be forgotten. A story dealing with newspaper life is always exciting, but "Go and Get It" is second to none. Its cast includes Wesley Barry, Pat O'Malley, Agnes Ayers, Noah Henry, J. Barney Sherry, Walter Long and Bill Montana, the latter having the role of a huge ape. Jack London's "The Sea Wolf" is as well known a book as "Go and Get It" is a picture. It is probably one of the most widely read novels in the world. In the film version, it does not lose any of its vividness, and if anything is more impressive. Wallace Deery has the title role.

THE STRAND

"The Isle of Lost Ships" with Milton Sills, Anna Q. Nilsson, Frank Campeau and others, is the feature on the Strand program during the week-end. If you are partial to sea stories, then don't miss this one. The second contribution is John Gilbert in "The Madness of Youth." The story is seen in the role of a crook and he treats it with the same cleverness and artistry of his former characterizations. The comedy and Weekly help to make up a most commendable program.

MERRIMACK SQ. THEATRE

Seldom has there been such a double bill of entertainment shown in this city as is now playing at Lowell's shrine of the silent drama. Viola Dana has added new laurels in her character portrayal of Martha in "A Noise in Newborn." From a Main street look-on to a big city hero is some racket, but, the noise you'll hear is shrieks of delight at this home-town tale.

"The Fog" has also won considerable comment. This is a drama of fate or destiny, call it what you will. It tells a story so true to life that the spectator is held spellbound to the end. The rest of the program retains the quality grade usual at the Merrimack Square.

WICHITA FALLS, Tex., Aug. 31.—Bus boy by day—scenario writer at night!

That's "Cal" Conant, general factotum in the Y. W. C. A. cafeteria here. From dishes, pots and pans to intricate movie plots certainly is a far cry, you will admit. But "Cal" happens to be one "struggling author" who's not going to run the risk of starving while he's waiting for the royalties to roll around.

In the restaurant, where he's worked for four years now—ever since he was 15—he's sure of his three squares every day. And then he has $10 or $12 a week, coming in besides. "This idea night oil over his little pad of yellow paper.

When "Nobody's Money," starring Jack Holt, showed here recently, nobody—save a lanky youngster in the gallery and maybe a companion or two—paid any heed to the author's line under the title.

Fact is, none around the cafeteria, except the bookkeeper remembered having heard "Cal's" full name—Calvin D. Conant.

But down in "Cal's" savings account was a check for $500 for the scenario. And up in his room was a letter from his agency announcing it had been offered $1200 for one of his plots, but was holding it for $1500.

"You say you want my picture?" asked "Cal," as he set a load of dishes on the "bus." "Well, will these clothes do?" And "Cal" the scenario writer, posed for the photographer right there in the cafeteria in his bus boy's uniform.

So, if you happen to see the name "Calvin D. Conant" on the screen again, you'll know it's "Cal" of the kitchen him along while he's burning the mid-

HIGH BLOOD PRESSURE

Physician's Discovery Safely Reduces It To Normal and Dizzy Spells Disappear

If your blood pressure is too high you cannot pass a life insurance examination. Perhaps you don't know whether you have this trouble or not, but if you have occasional dizzy spells, shortness of breath, pains in the head, hot flashes, are nervous, moody or don't sleep well, your blood pressure is probably higher than it ought to be even if you don't realize it.

Norma, the prescription of a Buffalo physician, reduces high blood pressure and when this result is accomplished all the ailments caused by this abnormal condition will quickly disappear. A. W. Bows & Co. and reliable drug-gists everywhere have a steady demand for NUTRISA—it is purely vegetable and contains nothing harmful.—Adv.

mild interest, but this morning there was a young man called to the witness stand, who admitted he was born in Lowell, but who couldn't speak or understand English.

He is 21 years old and was called on behalf of his father, George Page, who was before the court on a charge of drunkenness. Page is the father of nine children, the youngest of whom is only four weeks old, and Judge Enright was not inclined to send him to jail because of this, even though he was now on probation.

Page was given another chance, the case being continued until Jan. 13 of next year, but the court strongly suggested that besides looking out for himself as regards drink, he should also take steps at once to see that his son became acquainted with the English language.

Charge of Larceny

Charles T. McNamara of Boston pleaded not guilty to the larceny of 110 shares of stock in the Inter-City Trust Co. from Mary A. Burke, now of Portland, Me. The shares are valued at $13.50 each. At McNamara's request the case was continued, an objection by the complainant being withdrawn when the defendant agreed to pay her transportation to and from Portland.

No testimony was offered this morning, but the complainant alleges that she gave McNamara the stock to sell for her several months ago, and since then he hasn't made any return. She secured a warrant for his arrest here yesterday and he was taken into custody in Boston and bailed to appear in the Lowell court this morning.

William Marle pleaded guilty to a charge of driving an auto while under the influence of liquor, and a fine of $100 was imposed.

BOY DROWNED IN BEAVER BROOK

Auguste Corbin, aged 8 years, of 147 Riverside street, was drowned yesterday afternoon in Beaver brook, Dracut, near the Meadow bridge. The boy, with several of his playmates, was playing in the shallow water, according to the report of the accident, and went out on a rock that, on its farthest side, shelved sharply into deep water. He fell into the water and had disappeared from sight when assistance arrived. John J. Keefe, an operator for the street railway company, who lives near the scene of the accident, brought the body to the surface after diving for nearly an hour.

The body was removed to the home of his parents by Undertakers Amodeo Archambault & Sons. He leaves his parents, Joseph and Aimee (Arcon) Corbin; two sisters, Yvonne and Alma Corbin; and one brother, Emil Corbin.

Schooners Again Try to Settle Championship

morning in an attempt to decide possession of the Sir Thomas Lipton and J. W. Prentiss cups, open to competition by bona-fide fishing vessels of this class, the world over. On Monday, the date set for the race, as the feature event in Gloucester's 300th anniversary celebration, fog caused postponement. Yesterday, lack of wind prevented the racers from finishing within the six-hour limit.

In light variable airs, yesterday, the Henry Ford of Gloucester, Captain Elizaeth Howard of New York and the Shamrock of Boston on every leg and tack. The Ford was two miles from the finish line when time was called, the others were two miles behind. Captain Ben Fine of the Howard admitted after the almost race that he could not beat the Ford. The prevailing air yesterday were those believed to be ideal conditions for the Howard.

Starting yesterday, under a heavy handicap, with the Shamrock ahead of her and in windward, the Ford sailed away from her rivals on the first five mile leg. The rest was a battle for second place between the Howard and the Shamrock, with the former winning as far as the contest went. Given a fresh breeze today, the sailing qualities of the Shamrock will be given a better test by Captain Marty Welch, her skipper.

Less than two weeks off the way the vessel has never been tried out seriously. The three skippers hoped for southerly breezes, which have more body in these waters than the northerly breeze.

The northeast wind yesterday promised well at the start but died to nothing.

The coast guard cutter Modoc, which has been acting as committee boat for the race, left last night for Cape May, and her place today was taken by the destroyer Sprotley. The committee announced that if it is found impossible to finish the race today a start will be made daily until favorable conditions are found. Early in the day the indications were not very promising, as the southwest breeze was very light.

death is the only thing that will end my misery." Smith sobbed as he talked. At first he was reticent and during the long ride from Bangor yesterday, in company with officer William Liston of the local department, who was sent to the Maine city to get Smith back, he was silent. It was not until they neared Lowell that Smith finally gave officer Liston any information about himself.

He didn't want his folks to know anything about it, he said, as they had disowned him and wouldn't care. And this morning he again asked that no notification be sent his folks. "An out of their life, now," he said, "and they have no further use for me. And she's gone, too, so what is there for me to live for?"

Smith was arrested in Bangor Monday night, with the Ford sedan alleged to have been stolen from in front of Keith's theatre in this city, on May 30 last. The car bore Maine registration plates, but the registration plates of the owner, William Hughes of Milford, N. H., were found in the car. The Lowell police were notified and Wednesday morning, officer Liston and Mr. Hughes left for Bangor to bring back Smith and the car.

From Monday night until Thursday morning, all the time Smith was in jail in Bangor, he refused to talk, or to eat or drink. And the first morsel of food that passed his lips from Monday night until Thursday morning was when he had breakfast with officer Liston after leaving the Bangor jail.

His intention was to starve himself to death, he said, because death was the only solution for his misery. He didn't want to live, life was empty.

But on the way from Bangor he ate heartily enough, according to coming here in an attempt to identify officer Liston, and last night, while in the city home through Salisbury for auto theft also.

When arrested in Bangor, Smith shared dinner. He had eaten two had several forms of automobile good meals on the trip but officer Liston says that the shore dinner among these being forms used in Maine and New Hampshire. An outfit was also found which is said to be charged with the larceny of an automobile and the reflecting of these and through his counsel, Attorney by others.

Donald Doudine, a plan of not guilty. Smith's home is in Manchester, N. H., and he was formerly employed there as a draughtsman, he said. In the meantime an inspector from and also taught in the evening high the Portland police department is school there.

Prepare for Mary and Norma as Juliet

NORMA TALMADGE

MARY PICKFORD

BY N.E.A. SERVICE
HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 30.—"Romeo, oh Romeo, where are a couple of those?" Mary Pickford and Norma Talmadge may unite their silvery voices in this plea. For both Mary and Norma are going to film "Romeo and Juliet," each, of course, as Juliet.

This rivalry should prove interesting to screen viewers. The competitors in Shakespeare's most romantic drama will be the acknowledged two most popular women of motion pictures.

Mary (naturally) wants Doug Fairbanks to be her Romeo on the screen as well as at home in Beverly Hills. (And what a balcony scene it would be with Doug, the leading Nipper of the photopantomime, the premier of all clintons!)

Norma's Romeo will be that like young giant, Joseph Schildkraut, dramatic sensation of New York's Broadway.

Schildkraut is now doing his first work before the camera in "Dust of Desire," an original story by Margaret Peterson, that Chester Franklin and Frances Marion are co-directing. And in "Dust of Desire" Schildkraut is playing opposite Norma Talmadge.

It was Schildkraut who suggested "Romeo and Juliet" to Norma Talmadge. He was eager to play Romeo on the screen, and told Norma he'd like her as his Juliet. A few days later Joseph Schenck (who is Norma's husband as well as producer) announced that "Romeo and Juliet" would be her vehicle next spring.

Mary Pickford was the first to announce her plan to play Juliet. Her announcement came when she signed Ernst Lubitsch, the Austrian spectacle-master, who directed her in "Rosita," to direct her in three more pictures, one a year. And the first was to be "Romeo and Juliet."

It is interesting to note that the suggestion that Mary Pickford play Juliet originally came from Ferdinand Earle, the artist-director.

Earle made the suggestion in self-defense after Mary announced she would play Marguerite in a film version of "Faust."

This prospect was rather disconcerting to Earle, who had put more than a year's time and labor on exhaustive research in his preparations to present Goethe's philosophical drama in motion picture form.

So Earle publicly welcomed the lovely and popular Mary as a competitor, but at the same time pointed out that Marguerite was hardly Mary's type of role and that the "Faust" of Goethe had very little to say about that framing character anyway.

Ferdinand Earle urged that Mary appear as Juliet, a classical role he said Shakespeare might have written especially for her.

When letters came pouring into Mary from her myriad friends, most of them taking the same stand, American ears sweetly and abruptly dropped her "Faust" plans, on which Lubitsch had already done considerable work.

Poor little Mary meets competition whenever she turns to the classics. It seems. Now here's Norma Talmadge as her rival. No statement has come from the Pickford studio since Norma

This Little World

BY GEORGE HITT

N. E. A. Service Writer
CHICAGO, Aug. 31.—The men—young fellows who know the finest girls in the world—are the star customers at the florists' shops on Michigan avenue and in the loop. But not at the flower counters which hide away in corners of the elevated stations, spreading their perfumes at low rates before the rush-hour crowds. There the best buyers are women, and the men who do patronize these stands, the proprietors say, have the unmistakable air of husbands.

Husbands are supposed to be protected against seduction by their wives, but listen to this statement from a Chicago wife who just filed a damage suit against her mate.

"He wears long silk stockings and fastens them with small gold safety pins to his B. V. D's. He has 80 pairs of extra long silk stockings—for himself all right. He says socks let his knees get cold."

Any other nominations for the title of "meanest woman?"

announced her Juliet ambitions, but it is unlikely Mary will give up this cherished idea.

Juliet has always been a cause for rivalry among actresses. Last season saw Ethel Barrymore and Jane Cowl presenting the role on the New York stage. And back in 1915 two film versions of "Romeo and Juliet" were made, one with Theda Bara and the other with Francis X. Bushman and Beverly Bayne.

POLICE SAVE 19 HORSES

Rescued With Great Difficulty When Fire Swept Barn of Ice Cream Co.

BOSTON, Aug. 31.—Nineteen horses were saved with great difficulty in a fire that swept the rear of the barn of the Neapolitan Ice Cream company at 150 Norfolk street, Cambridge, shortly before 11 o'clock last night.

The Cambridge police feel certain the fire was set by a 16-year-old boy who is believed to have caused no less than six fires in the vicinity in the past two weeks.

The stable occupies the rear of an old two-story wooden structure. The flames quickly swept up to the second floor, where a large quantity of hay was stored.

In a few minutes the flames burst through the roof and alarmed the neighborhood. Two alarms were sent in from different boxes.

Sergeant La Marche and Patrolmen Brady, Kane and Leary entered the burning building before the firemen arrived and made their way to the rear where they could hear the horses screaming and rushing about.

The floor of the hay loft had broken through and bales of blazing hay were dropping down among the crowded horses. Several of the animals broke their halters and were trying to escape.

At great peril the policemen caught the crazed animals and at last got them all out of a back door into the street, where they ran wild.

Some of the horses were badly burned about the flanks and shoulders. Young men of the district finally herded them all together after they had run their fright off and they were taken to a lot at Elm street and Broadway. None of the policemen reported being hurt.

There were 10 wagons stored in the front of the building and after the horses were saved the intrepid policemen dragged them out also, with the help of civilians.

The firemen confined the blaze to the rear of the structure and the damage was estimated at $6000. A large quantity of baled hay was burned. A company was kept on duty practically all night deluging the ruins to make sure no spark was left.

"Dr. King, I Want Teeth I Can Eat With"

A man came into this office some time ago and made the above statement. He said he had two sets of teeth and could not eat with either of them. I made him a set and he came into the office later and said they were the only ones he could keep in his mouth while eating. In fact he could chew peanuts and eat apples without the least trouble.

The reason for this is my particular method of taking impressions study of the shape and relation of the jaws and correct articulation of the teeth.

THE STOMACH AND HEALTH

Perhaps you may remember the old story of how the different organs of the body decided to go on strike against the stomach, which was always giving them too much work to do. After a short strike they became alarmed. Something must be done at once. They were beginning to get weak from lack of blood nourishment. Much to their surprise they found out that they all depended on the stomach. The business agent called all the workers back on the job and the body building was resumed.

Hot weather is with us and common sense in eating may mean all the difference in the world to your future growth and condition of health. I have known one summer to decide the health happiness of a whole life time. In this day of freedom from old-time ideas and conventionalities try and do your stomach a good turn by finding out what real food values are and the proper amount you require. Don't overload your stomach in the hot season or any other season for that matter. An occasional fast for a few meals will do you a world of good. Your stomach will enjoy the rest.

A Personal Equation

Sometimes we find a person who will tell you that he eats whenever he is hungry. He appears strong and healthy and it never hurts him to take food at any time. Again, another person will eat only at regular intervals, giving strict attention to proper eating and careful chewing of his food.

But in spite of this he is thin and appears undernourished. In the first case, the person was probably blessed with a strong stomach, like a horse, as the expression is, and his general physical condition is strong in resistance. In spite of his greatly increased amount of food above the normal he was not fat. His selection of food with the proper amount of calories was not good and his waste was high.

In the second case the food selection was probably the same day after day and not sufficiently body building. Too much of the same kind and in spite of the proper habits, no real gain resulted. In fact there was a loss, as his vitality was undoubtedly poor and he was low in disease resistance.

Watch Your Diet

Meals often have a bad effect on the stomach if taken too often during the summer. Eggs and fish are much better and can be prepared in many tempting ways. Vegetables and fruit are the best of all things for summer diet. They make up into delicious salads and combine well with milk, one of the best hot weather foods. Cool water, milk and lemonade, not sweet, are the best drinks for the hot season.

When you are hungry, it does not signify that the general body craves food. The stomach, which is of different types in different individuals, becomes empty in some persons more rapidly than in others. Contraction of the empty stomach is what produces hunger. Don't eat too much or too often, given your stomach a rest. It is all right now but you will have to use it a long time.

EMPLOYMENT FOR BLIND

Gov. Cox Replies to Agitation for Reopening of Shops in Cambridge

BOSTON, Aug. 31.—Governor Cox last night issued a statement relative to the agitation for the reopening of the shops for the blind in Cambridge, which were recently closed on account of the cost to the commonwealth, in which he expressed the belief that it will be possible to work out plans which will provide employment for the blind under more favorable conditions than existed in the Cambridge shops. With his statement, the governor made public a report on the closing of the Cambridge industries for men which was compiled by Robert L. Bramhall, director of the division of the blind. The report stated that of the 3883 blind persons in the state only 160 were employed in the state shops at Cambridge, Lowell, Worcester, Fall River and Pittsfield. It was added that the last legislature appropriated $254,000 for the work of the blind and one-third of the sum was devoted to the shop in Cambridge where 89 men were employed.

The per capita was $624 while the average earnings of those employed was $161. It was also stated that opportunities of employment had been offered to a number of those who formerly worked in Cambridge but they refused to move to other parts of the state. It was hoped, it was said, that employment will be found for many of the blind in private industry.

NERVE

When Miss Nancy Knowles, Philadelphia society girl, saw Thomas McCloskey, a park guard, give chase to some automobile thieves, she stepped on the gas of her car and went to his help. As they closed in on the robbers, one of the fires of the girl's machine blew out and the two cars collided. The policeman was seriously injured, and the girl was badly shaken, but she tried to keep on after the thieves. They fled before she could touch them, however.

KNIGHTS OF COLUMBUS PLAN ANNUAL OUTING

At the regular meeting of the local Knights of Columbus last night, final plans for the outing which is to be held at the Genoa club grounds for Tyngsboro on Sept. 9 were discussed and a committee appointed to take charge of affairs on that day. Transportation will be made in automobiles provided by members of the organization, starting promptly at 10 o'clock from in front of the Dutton street clubhouse. At the grounds, a lengthy program of sports will be indulged in with valuable prizes in the offering for the winners. An old-fashioned Rhode Island clam-bake will be a feature.

The nominating committee recommended at the recommendation was accepted that the annual election of officers will take place on Sept. 12. A large and promising list of candidates will be balloted on that day. The following were appointed a committee to organize a bowling league: John C. McQuade, John J. McVardie, Michael F. Maloney, Alfred J. Rogers and Eugene Donovan.

SOCIAL AND DANCE AT ASSOCIATE HALL

Monday evening, Associate hall will be the scene of another social and dance for which Associate hall is noted throughout New England. The hall has been touched up by expert painters and, one of the best floors obtainable has been laid and a new cooling system, which will keep the air clean and cool, has been installed. Minor & Doyle's orchestra has been engaged for the evening session.

LOWELL GAIKIE CLUB
The opening of the fall social season will be officially observed by the Lowell Gaike club next Monday evening (laurel day), with a social and dance in Merrimack hall. An energetic committee has been working steadily on plans for this affair and promise that it will be one of the premier events of the season. Music for dancing will be furnished by Foley's orchestra.

Appointments and Changes in Oblate Clergymen

From Ottawa Father Duffy went to Buffalo, N. Y., where he was assigned to the Holy Angel church. He left there to become director of the Jesuit preparatory school of the diocese, remaining in that capacity for two years.

In 1901 he returned to Tewksbury as a master of novices. Two years later he returned to the Holy Angel church at Buffalo for four years. In 1907 he left the New York church to go to Duane Creek, Wisconsin, as pastor. At the end of four years Father Duffy returned to his old church at Buffalo and remained there for six years.

In 1915 he was transferred to Tewks-bury as superior and master of novices, which capacity he vacated to assume his new duties as superior at the Immaculate Conception.

Father Duffy has one brother who is also in the priesthood, the Rev. James Duffy of Haverston, N. Y. He has also two sisters, Miss Catherine Lee (Duffy) of Lowell and Mrs. Peter McNulty of Chelmsford.

Papers Warned

ROME, Aug. 31.—(By the Associated Press)—The Italian government today issued a semi-official statement today urging the newspapers not to publish the movements of Italian military or naval units threatening severe measures against those who do so.

The newspapers warn from Brindisi, a southern Italy seaport, that the Greek steamer Litomides, which was scheduled to leave for a Greek port last evening, had been stopped in the harbor. The press dispatches add that the Italian steamship Adria, which had cleared for the Levant, was ordered later to go direct to Constantinople without touching at Greek ports.

The newspaper Messaggero today says it is reliably informed that Greece's refusal to pay an indemnity of 50,000,000 lire for the slaying of the Italian boundary mission and her request for modification of the Italian demand regard the saluting of the Italian flag are considered by the Italian government as absolutely unsatisfactory.

Italy Studies Greek Reply

ROME, Aug. 31.—(By the Associated Press)—The Italian government today had before it Greece's reply to Premier Mussolini's ultimatum embodying seven demands for reparation and indemnity for the massacre of the Italian officers serving on the Greco-Albanian boundary commission.

The reply declares that the Greek government considers as unjust the attribution to it by Italy of responsibility for the assassinations, and says it finds it impossible to accept the fourth, fifth and sixth demands in the ultimatum, considering them violations of the honor and sovereignty of the Greek state.

These demands were that honors in the form of a twenty-one gun salute be paid by a Greek naval squadron to the Italian flag; that the Greek authorities institute a thorough inquiry into the massacre on the scene of the slayings assisted by the Italian military attaché in Athens, and that all of the guilty be executed.

The Greek reply promises a formal apology for the incident, but in a modified form from that laid down in the Italian ultimatum and also agrees to the celebration of a religious function in memory of the victims.

It offers "just indemnity" to the families of the slain commissioners and concludes with the hope that Italy will acknowledge Greece's conciliatory spirit and her desire to give satisfaction.

Athens Await Answer

ATHENS, Aug. 31.—(By the Associated Press)—It is stated in reliable quarters that the government will await Italy's reply to the Greek note in answer to the Italian ultimatum before having recourse to the League of Nations, of which both nations are members.

If an appeal to the league is considered necessary it will be based upon articles 13 and 15 of the covenant, by virtue of which the league must necessarily intervene, even if asked to do so by only one of the parties concerned.

The Greek government has protested through the Italian legation here against the anti-Greek demonstrations in Milan and Trieste, in which insult was offered to the Greek flag.

A telegram from Jannina says the military detachments have started in pursuit of the assassins of the Italian commissioners.

CHANGE FIRE ALARM SYSTEM SO BELLS AND WHISTLES REMAIN SILENT IN NEW BEDFORD

Fire Chief Says City Has Outgrown Old Plan and Audible Alarm Aids in Creating Hindrance—New System in Effect at Once—City at Large Will Know of Fire Only at Second Alarm or Private Box

NEW BEDFORD, Aug. 31.—The practice of publicly sounding fire alarms is to be further curtailed here. Under the new plan, announced following a conference of Mayor Remington and Chief Engineer Dahill today, public alarms will be sounded only for private boxes, boxes in the central business district, and second alarms from public boxes.

The system now in vogue has been outgrown in the opinion of Chief Dahill. At present, when a box is used the alarm is repeated four times. The first two rounds are registered on the indicators in the fire houses only and the last two are broadcast by siren and bell.

When agitation for the removal of the audible alarm was at its height Chief Dahill made a strong plea for its retention on the ground that it served to notify men of the off duty platform the location of the fire so that they could go to the aid of their fellow fire fighters.

Audible Alarm a "Hindrance"

Today the head of the department said the benefits derived from a public alarm were more than offset by hindrance it caused. "At that time," he said, in discussing the subject, "my idea in retaining the signal was to secure the willing co-operation of the men off duty and not obliged to attend fires. We have had a very generous response from the men but today, because of the great increase in the number of automobiles on the streets the benefits are more than offset by hindrance of one kind and another."

"Instead of machines clearing out of the way, they hinder the progress of the apparatus on its way to a fire; then block the area around the blaze. We had a good example of that at the ice house fire a little while ago. That was off the main thoroughfare yet there were so many automobiles crowding the road that if we had needed more apparatus it would have been impossible to get it in there and if it had been necessary to send apparatus to another fire, it could only have been done after a very serious delay."

Old System Outgrown

"Fire department officers agree that the use which the public signal originally served has been defeated by modern conditions. Instead of the alarm acting as an agency for clearing the streets and making the approach of the men and apparatus easy and convenient, a contrary effect is produced and the populace on foot and in autos flows to the scene and becomes a hindrance and positive nuisance. A whistle and bells seem to be regarded as a general invitation to attend a public entertainment spectacle."

"With a trained fire fighting force on the job the assembled crowds become an audience that does not help at all, but gets very much in the way. It is expected that safety, convenience and system will each be promoted by doing away with a general public alarm and substituting the very much modified new arrangement."

Rotary Club to Aid

The Rotary club recently addressed on the subject by Chief Dahill, appointed a committee to pledge automobile owners not to park their cars near the scene of a fire.

INCREASED INTEREST IN MILITARY AFFAIRS

Elaborate plans have been drawn to keep high the interest awakened in military affairs among the youth of New England who attended the C.M.T.C. camp at Devens this summer and previous years.

Clubs will be formed in the various cities which sent young men to the camp and Rotary and the chambers of commerce for them. Col. P. L. Stackpole, civilian aide to the secretary of war, is directing the new plan. Eligibility for membership will consist of attendance at one of the C.M.T.C. camps, regardless of year.

LYNN LASTERS WIN

Labor troubles in Lynn's great shoe industries have been numerous during the past few years, with results well known in trade union circles and industrial centers. Not always have the disputes been settled amicably to all concerned and sometimes both "sides" have been at fault. The situation today, however, appears to be more healthy for both the shoe manufacturers and the workers. The latest strike involving some 1100 lasters in Lynn, was quickly settled, the workers securing a long-sought-for increase in wages retroactive to August 1 and involving about $3,000 in back pay.

The five-day work now in vogue in shoe-making circles in Lynn, appears to satisfy the workers as nothing ever has in the past when the hours were longer and the wages smaller. Whether the five-day week campaign will spread to many other New England cities in the shoe industry or as well as other wage-earning trades, remains to be seen.

The fact that the Lynn lasters won their strike for wage increases indicates that the shoe industry is destined to prosper in respect of output this fall and winter. Reports from many New England manufacturing centers show that orders for shoes are steadily increasing. Lowell shoe manufacturing concerns, of course, will figure in this demand for new goods and plenty of them.

The settlement of the Lynn shoe workers' wage controversy was brought about by friendly arbitration, in which the manufacturers showed the right spirit clear through. Henry B. Lincolnton represented the manufacturers, and Lynn working people have a right to rejoice that they had a chance to deal personally at the conference with a man of his standing, fairness and right dealing. For such has been his reputation in the shoe manufacturing world for many years.

STUDENTS AS TRACK HANDS

Half a hundred or more students from Harvard College, the M. I. T., Boston University, and several other higher institutions of learning are working this summer in the yards of along the tracks of the Boston and Maine railroad. Most of them are working with pick and shovel and bars, setting wooden sleepers, ballasting the roadbeds and performing other necessary work in the railroad's department of maintenance of way.

Some of these hardy, anxious-to-work young men are doing this labor, we presume, merely for the summer wages that it brings them, but there are many performing with pick and shovel because they intend to make railroad work a permanent occupation and want to start at the bottom.

The valiant fifty students tramping the Boston and Maine's extensive rights of way this summer, and their number includes several Chinese students we are told, are evidently not out to secure white-collar jobs when they graduate from their respective schools and colleges. Some of them in truth may be the railroad kings of the future. And the students from the far Orient will likely return to the land of their birth sometime and show their brother celestial how to run railroads on the best American plan.

These track hands of the student world who are laboring this summer on the Boston and Maine, may be working their way through college, but here their opportunities for obtaining valuable knowledge that will be worth while are far better than would be the range of workday activities in some seashore jazz parlor as waiters and hotel wall-flowers.

And we would like to follow the career of that slim young Chinaman who has been toiling with a gang of Italian-speaking laborers on the B. and M. above Winchester during the past week. It will be worth careful notation if the ambitious youth is successful in securing that Manchurian railroad job when he completes his Dartmouth educational course and returns to his now disturbed homeland.

THE IRISH ELECTION

Although the returns from the Irish election are incomplete, they already indicate a victory for the Free State government despite the fact that the republicans appear to have elected a substantial minority. The vote for the members of the Free State appears to have been overwhelming, which is an indication that in their constituencies, at least, they have gained support. It appears that the Valera is elected from the County Clare, Miss. MacSwiney from Cork, and the Congress Democrats from Dublin. The republican members elected will be sufficient in number to cause trouble either within or without the Dail. It is not expected that they will take their seats, but if they have respect for majority rule, they will submit to the verdict of the people and thus allow the country to proceed under the constitution that has been adopted.

If they should enter the Dail and form a coalition with some of the other minority parties, they might be able to defeat the government and thus precipitate another election. It is expected, however, that their opposition if they are not to submit, will be exerted outside the Dail as an appeal to the country or in an effort to maintain the semblance of a de facto government such as they have claimed to exist for some time past. This, however, the Free State authorities will not tolerate.

HELPING THE FRUIT-GROWERS

Leading steamship lines in the so-called North Atlantic conference, have announced a reduction of ten cents a barrel on apples shipped from New England to the United Kingdom. This will be fairly good news to Middlesex county apple exporters, and they are many in the towns about Lowell, and it would seem as though growers of prime fruit who have been working

After a recent trolley collision a Scotchman was extorted from the wreckage by a companion who had escaped unhurt. "Never mind, Sandy," his rescuer remarked. "It's nothing serious and you'll get damages for it." "Damages? How I na had enough? Gude sakes, it's repairs I'm seekin' noo."

Too Cold In Winter

The graduating class had recently handed in written tests on physiology and hygiene. In examining the papers the teacher came across this answer, handed in by a miss of 16, in reply to the question: "What is the proper time to bathe?" "The proper time to bathe is in the summer time."

Too Much To Expect

Sold the police salesman, temporarily promoted to the cycle department. "Yes, indeed, if the bicycle is not just as represented in our advertisement we will cheerfully refund your daughter's money." "Go on! Don't tell me such yarns as that, you mean! You might as well Mandy's money back, but 'taint human nature' for ye to be cheerful 'bout doin' it."

His First Assignment

It was the young reporter's first assignment—the obituary of a prominent local banker, who had been fatally injured in an automobile accident. In his write-up he described with touching pathos the tragic circumstances of the fatality, concluding by referring to the bereavement sustained by the family. "The widow is almost grief-stricken."

Shoulder Strap Support

Planchette has a sizable mole on her left shoulder. One of her flapper chums was asking why she didn't have it taken off, calling her attention to the electric nozzle, and other modern facilities. "You're foolish, kiddie," replied Planchette. "With these tricky gears a girl who has a mole on her shoulder is lucky." "What on earth do you mean?" "I'm talking about ball games, dearie. That mole holds up my shoulder strap."

When Monsters Meet

A Chicago orator said: "A Denver man was bragging in New York about his Rocky mountain hunting trophy. 'You seem mighty proud of these mountains, sir?' 'Yes,' said the Denver man, 'I ought to. My ancestors built them.' The New York man exclaimed a cloud of smoke. Then he said: 'Did you ever happen to hear of the Dead Sea?' 'Yes,' said the New Yorker. 'I know all about the Dead Sea.' 'Perhaps you've heard then,' said the New Yorker, 'that my great-great-grandfather killed the damned thing.'—Chicago News.

Life

They told me that life could be just what I made it—
Life could be fashioned and worn like a gown;
I, the designer, made the decision
Whether to wear it with bonnet or crown.

And so I selected the prettiest pattern
Life should be made of the richest
Something unique, and a bit out of fashion.
One that perhaps would be chosen by few.

But other folks came and they leaned over my shoulder;
Somebody questioned the ultimate cost;
Somebody tangled the thread I was using.
One day I found that my scissors were lost.

And somebody claimed the material faded;
Somebody said I'd be tired 'er 'twas worn;
Somebody's fingers, too pointed and spiteful,
Snatched at the cloth, and I saw it was torn.

Oh! Somebody tried to do all of the sewing;
Working always to advise or condemn;
Here is my life, the product of many;
What is that gown I could fashion again?

RENEW ATTACK ON KLANSMEN

Battling Between K. K. K. Members and Mobs Resumed at Perth Amboy, N. J.

30 Klansmen, Who Took Refuge in Hall After Last Night's Clash, Attacked

Mob of 5000 Took Part in Last Night's Disorder—Tear Gas Bombs Used

PERTH AMBOY, N. J., Aug. 31.—Battling between Ku Klux Klansmen and mobs was resumed on the streets of Perth Amboy this morning as members of the order tried to escape from the Odd Fellows hall where they had sought refuge during an attack on a Klan meeting last night in which upward of 100 persons are reported to have been injured.

A hundred men, armed with clubs and stones, made an attack on 30 Klansmen who had remained hidden in the hall, dashed from the building. The Klansmen were severely beaten before they were able to escape their pursuers. Several were reported seriously injured.

5000 Storm Meeting

PERTH AMBOY, N. J., Aug. 31.—A crowd of 5000 persons broke up a meeting of the Ku Klux Klan in Odd Fellows hall last night, 75 policemen and 150 firemen being unable to drive back the throng that stormed the building. Firemen drove trucks into the mass of people, but to no avail. A hurry call was sent for state police in Trenton.

Patrolmen fired shots in the air, threw gas bombs, and swung their nightsticks while the firemen turned streams of water on the fighting throng. The leaders of the mob were knocked down by patrolmen when they first started to advance toward the hall, but after they had been carried away another attack was started. This time stones were thrown and all windows in Odd Fellows hall, as well as many others in nearby buildings were broken.

Police Chief Tonnerson then ordered his men to throw tear gas bombs, and 13 of these, the town's entire supply, were exploded. The crowd fell back, but advanced again, hurling more stones. It was then that a riot call was sounded and 150 firemen dashed to the scene.

After the firemen had run their apparatus directly at the surging mass of humanity and had failed to disperse the crowd they attached their hose lines to every available hydrant and drenched the rioters with several streams of water.

Battered for a few seconds the crowd fell back. Several of the more sturdy, however, braved the water and cut the hose lines with axes and knives while those in the crowd threw stones at the firemen.

Chief Tonnerson, in the meantime, had ordered the Klansmen to leave the building. Clamoring out windows, down fire-escapes, and through every available exit, they were met by their assailants and many hand-to-hand fights ensued.

As one man darted from the crowd someone shouted, "That man has a gun." A patrolman grabbed him, shoved him into an auto and rushed him to the police station.

Other cars loaded with men, followed, but the prisoner was rushed through the station and locked in a stable at the rear. After searching the station those who had followed returned to the scene of the fight.

Berton Braley's Daily Poem

The Golfer's Psalm

Though my score set down in numbers
Is a horror and a scream,
Yet at times within my slumbers
Of an "85" I dream.

Lives of champions remind us
If we strive—and strive some more,
We may some day leave behind us
Something like a decent score.

If we're slicing and we're hooking
Who shall know if sometimes, when
Our opponent isn't looking,
We count eight instead of ten?

Golf is real, golf is earnest,
And a bogie is our goal,
Oh the joy when thou returnest
Victor from the eighteenth hole!

Let us then be up and doing,
As true golfers always are,
Still our aim in life pursuing
Till we make a round in par!

LEARN TO SWIM IN
THE WADING POND

Five hundred Lowell children, ranging in age from eight to 14 years, learned to swim this summer in the wading pond at the common. Leo

Wholey acted as instructor and an average of twenty children a day have been under his instruction since July 16, when the pond was opened for this purpose.

This is the first year that swimming instruction has been given in connection with the playground programs.

The pond has a depth of approximately 30 inches and Mr. Wholey is justly proud of the fact that no accidents or near-accidents marred the instruction which was concluded for the season on Wednesday.

The instruction periods have covered two hours each morning and two hours each afternoon. The average child, Mr. Wholey says, learned to swim in two individual lessons of about 15 minutes each.

Parents took a great interest in this instruction and many attended various sessions to watch the youngsters learning to handle themselves in the water. In several instances children were brought to Mr. Wholey by parents who desired that they learn to swim and all were enthusiastic over the opportunity afforded.

SOMETHING DOING AT BIG
CARNIVAL TONIGHT

An exhibition of dexterity that will furnish thrills equal to those furnished by Houdini years ago will be the main feature tonight at the carnival being conducted by the local street carmen's union on the show grounds at Moore and Garham street for the benefit of the William Gallagher Memorial fund.

At 7:30 o'clock this evening a disciple of the original Houdini will make his appearance upon the show grounds bound in heavy chains that will be locked in many places. The chains and locks will be inspected by men who are authorities on such subjects and the shackled man will then be hoisted to the top of a 30-foot pole. Suspended at this dizzy height from the ground, he will attempt to free himself of the chains and make a safe descent to the ground.

By this man has often succeeded in like attempts, the element of chance is always present and his struggle to free himself of the shackles gains the admiration of the spectators and holds them in suspense until the last chain drops and the man makes a quick descent to the ground.

Jack Daw's Adventures. Chapter 16

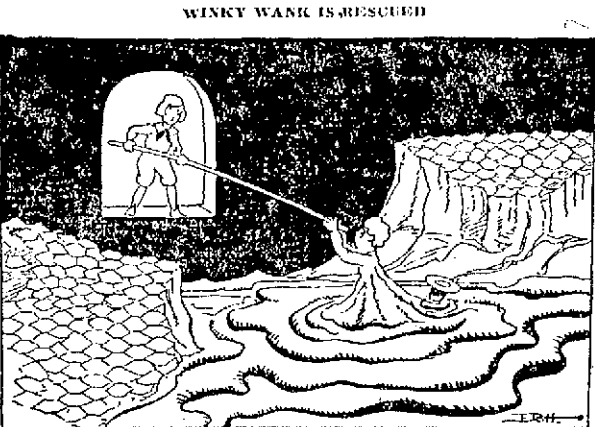

"So this is the way you obey my orders," shouted the gruff commander of the ship. "I'll show you what happens when you give my choice drinks to the crew." And the captain grabbed Kettles by the arm and rushed him out of the kitchen. Jack and Flip followed close behind.

As soon as the forward deck was reached the pilot was ordered to ring the alarm bell. As the great bell rang forth the crew of the pirate ship came running up on deck. "Our cook is to be punished for disobeying orders," shouted the captain. "Tie him to the anchor!"

Several members of the crew, who were very afraid of the captain, rushed forward and took hold of Kettles. Then they tied him to the bow of the ship and proceeded to tie him fast to the anchor. Flip rushed up at the captain and barked loudly. He seemed to know that Kettles was in danger! (Continued.)

Nick poked in a stick and Winky Wank caught it. Mister Bee shook himself but he couldn't shake Winky Wank, the Pew Wee boy, off his back. Winky Wank winked one of his tiny black eyes and laughed and laughed at the joke he had played on everybody.

"My, but it's fun being an aviator," he cried. "Nothing else can buzz like an airplane except Mister Bee. I've ridden on every other kind of a bug but not one of them can buzz as beautifully as he can. I wonder who mother never would let me ride him. When I go home I'll tell her how lovely it is to fly everything and what a mistake she made not letting me ride on him before."

Winky Wank had run off from Pew Wee Land and jumped on Mister Bee when he wasn't looking. And Mister Bee was as mad as a hornet. "Bzzzz! Bzzzz!" he went angrily, diving away from the pesky thing and making straight for a row of funny things that looked like great big porridge bowls turned upside down.

Each one had a door away down, and before Winky Wank knew what was happening, Mister Bee made a dash for one of them and crawled inside.

She's Champ Farm Girl

PEGGY KEITH ON THE FARM

BY HARRY B. HUNT
N.E.A. Service Writer

WASHINGTON, Aug. 31.—Uncle Sam's prize farm girl is Peggy Keith, aged 16, of Franklin County, Virginia. So well does she think of her farm and her accomplishments that he is taking her and some samples of her farm products all the way to Springfield, Mass., where they will be shown at the Eastern States Exposition of boys and girls club work at Camp Vail, Sept. 16-23.

MORTGAGEE'S SALE

By virtue and in execution of the Power of Sale contained in a certain mortgage given by Benjamin F. Carr and Elizabeth Carr to the City Institution for Savings, dated July 10, 1920, and recorded with Middlesex North District Registry of Deeds, Book 630, Page 416, and later assigned to me, George M. Wright, by assignment dated Aug. 20, 1922, and recorded with said Registry of Deeds for breach of the conditions of said mortgage and for the purpose of foreclosing the same will be sold at Public Auction at two o'clock p. m., on the twelfth day of September, A. D. 1923, at the office of Frank J. Carver, Room number 424 Appleton Bank Building, 174 Central Street, Lowell, Massachusetts, all and singular the premises described in said mortgage, to wit: The land in that part of Chelmsford, Middlesex County, Massachusetts, known as South Chelmsford, with the buildings thereon, containing fifty-one acres, situated on the northerly side of Carlisle Road and the westerly side of an old Town Road and thus bounded: Beginning at the southerly corner of the premises at the intersection of said Road; thence Northerly along said Town Road to land supposed to belong now or formerly to Andrew H. Park; thence westerly by said last mentioned land in land supposed to belong now or formerly to William Toye; thence Southerly by said last mentioned land; thence westerly by said last mentioned land, two hundred forty-seven and 5/10 feet; thence Southerly by said last mentioned land, two hundred thirty-three and 5/10 feet; thence westerly by said last mentioned land, one hundred and fifty feet to said Carlisle Road; thence Easterly along said Road to the point of beginning.

Also the land in said Chelmsford containing two acres, situated on the Southerly side of said Carlisle Road opposite the above described parcel, thus bounded: Beginning at the northerly corner of the premises on the southerly side of said Road at a corner of a wall and at the northwesterly corner of land supposed to belong now or formerly to Clara Loyell; thence Southerly by the wall and by said last mentioned land, two hundred sixty-four feet to a stone post in the wall at land supposed to belong now or formerly to G. Parker; thence westerly by said last mentioned land, three hundred thirty feet to the point of beginning; he said contents of any or all of said measurements more or less and however otherwise said premises may be measured, bounded or described. Subject to and with the benefit of a right of way over the easterly part of the second lot above described, so far as said right of way now may be in force and applicable to the granted premises.

Said premises will be sold subject to all taxes and municipal assessments which may be due. A deposit of $500.00 must be made at the time and place of sale. (Other terms to be announced at the sale.)

he held up as an example of what ambitious girls and boys can do when they mix brains with energy and enthusiasm, and as a lesson to older folks on the advantages of adopting modern practices in agriculture and home economics.

Starting as a member in girls' club work in 1916, at the age of 8, Peggy has climbed to the top in seven years. And as a visible product of her efforts can show a herd of 20 fine shorthorn ponies, blooded Guernsey cows and bulls, prize-winning chickens, blue-plum cedars and a stock of health and enthusiasm that would be worth millions in Wall Street.

Plants, Cows, Ton

Peggy's first venture in agriculture was made as a member of the county potato club in 1916. She planted a small patch and worked it herself with fair results. The biggest gain was in deeply rooting her enthusiasm for club work.

The next year she joined a corn club and put in a whole acre of corn. Things were coming fine. She had plowed and worked the land herself, and the hardest of the cultivation was past when she broke into the field and played havoc with the prospects. Next year, however, she had better luck and harvested 75 bushels of corn from her acre.

In 1919, at the age of 11, Peggy signed up with a canning club. She grew a tenth of an acre of tomatoes and canned and pickled enough of the product to feed the family over the winter.

So successful was she in her canning operations that her fruit and vegetables for two successive years pulled down the prize in the open classes for canned goods at the Franklin County fair.

Craved Work

It was the outdoors, however, that appealed most to Peggy. She loved to develop a flock of 100 standard bred Langshans and Rhode Island Red Chickens.

She joined the baby beef club and in 1919 grew two fine Shorthorn heaves, which she traded and fed according to methods advocated by the department of agriculture. In 1920, with a better knowledge of selecting her stock, she made a profitable business out of baby beef. In 1921 her beef calf won first prize at the Richmond State fair, gaining 400 pounds in a short feeding period.

Peggy now plunged into the study of livestock in earnest. She took a course in livestock judging at the Virginia Agricultural college and soon qualified for the good points of her animals as well as much more experienced judges. In a competition among club members, she was selected as Virginia's representative in an international livestock judging contest.

Peggy proves that bobbed hair and knickerbockers do not necessarily denote a flapper, for certainly no one would recognize her as anything but a serious student of agriculture. But for the active outdoor life she leads she finds the bifurcated garb and short hair both more practicable and pleasant than plaited braids and swishing skirts.

Memorial Auditorium Scintillated Yesterday Afternoon and Evening in an Array of Colorful Costumes Worn by the Boys and Girls of the City Playgrounds—Spectators Charmed With Picturesque Vision of Changing Tents and Wonderful Dancing by the Young Folks—Most Spectacular and Successful Closing in History of Local Playgrounds

Wonderful costumes, accomplished acting and unadorned entertainment featured the historical pageant in the Memorial Auditorium yesterday afternoon and evening on the occasion of the closing exercises of the city's playground, participated in by approximately 250 children, who received the history of the city from the time of its habitation by native Indians up to the present day. Under the direction of the various playground supervisors, who applied themselves, devotedly to the preparations for the big event, an unparalleled program of historical dances, depicting in chronological order the settlement of the city, was given without the least interruption and with apparent uniformity by the youthful members of the cast.

The afternoon affair was attended by thousands of children anxious to see their playground fellows in public demonstration, while the evening performance was given principally for the benefit of the mothers, fathers,

RECEPTION TO SULLIVAN

C. Y. M. L. Votes $100 and Appoints Committee—Reception to John Conlon

After a discussion of plans suggested as fitting for a welcome home reception to their brother member, Henry Sullivan, the Catholic Young Men's League voted $100 towards the public subscription list and a committee of ten was named to solicit subscriptions from the people of the city.

Following the action in regard to the Sullivan reception, the members of the league expressed an opinion that John Conlon, Henry Sullivan's trainer, should also be tendered a reception of some sort upon his return. Only tentative plans for this reception were made.

The committee of ten named to secure subscriptions is as follows: John P. Murphy, chairman; Edward Flynn, William Twohey, John J. Keefe, Simon Ryan, James Saunders, James McPhillips, Henry McCullough, Michael McLaughlin and John Moller. The committee named to further plans for a reception to John Conlon consists of the following: John J. Mahoney, chairman; John P. Murphy, John J. Flannery, Frank Hession and James Lannan.

An election committee was named to prepare a list of candidates for the annual election, Sept. 9, and is as follows: John P. Murphy, chairman; James Monahan, Harold B. Sullivan, James McPhillips and John McGinnis.

Following a discussion of other business, the meeting was adjourned by the president, Harold B. Sullivan.

FORMAL OPENING OF NEW POSTAL STATION

Tomorrow morning at 8 o'clock the new Centralville postoffice will be formally opened when Postmaster Xavier A. Delisle will sell the first stamp to Congressman John Jacob Rogers. The new station, situated on Bridge street between West Fourth and West Fifth streets, will fill a much-needed want in this growing section of the city, facilitate the delivery of mail and relieve the increasing congestion in the city.

main postoffice in Garban street. Until the general public becomes acquainted with the new system, all Centralville mail matter will be handled at the main office, but when conditions become thoroughly workable, letters and other mail will be delivered directly to the Centralville station for delivery from their Centralville offices, therefore, will do well, says Postmaster Delisle, to address mail to

Among the special guests present during the afternoon exercises were Mayor Donovan, Supt. John W. Keenan, Asst. Supervisor of Playgrounds Arthur J. Sullivan and Supt. of Schools Hugh J. Moller. A group of sisters from the Immaculate Conception school enjoyed the program in reserved seats. In the evening, the park department was represented by Harvey B. Greene, who extended greetings to the audience and thanked the mothers and fathers for their interest in the welfare of playground endeavors. He also congratulated the supervisors and the children in their care for the systematized effort in presenting such an elaborate exhibition.

While each of the individual numbers of the lengthy but enjoyable program might well be classified as a specialty, the night dance by the children of the Greenhalge playground, directed by Miss Agnes Dudley, was perhaps the most conspicuous. Attired

The Centralville Improvement association has entered "the swim for Sullivan" and at a well attended meeting last night, presided over by Thomas F. Garvey, plans for the reception were discussed and the following delegates chosen to act in conjunction with the city-wide committee: Thomas F. Garvey, Sr., Charles B. Garmon, Nathan G. Lamson, John J. Mahoney, E. A. Wilson, Joseph W. Burns, R. Gaston Campbell, Rev. William A. Kilmer, Dr. Michael A. Tighe and John Hawkins. John J. Mahoney was appointed to represent the association as a committee of one from each organization in the city.

An added feature of last night's meeting was a communication from Postmaster Delisle that the new postoffice, situated on Bridge street, between Fourth and Fifth streets will be opened for business tomorrow morning, September 1.

It was announced by the committee in charge of the circulation of petitions for the establishment of a waiting room in Kearney square by the Eastern Massachusetts Street Railway company, that heavy cooperation was needed for the park department for entertainment of the Centralville section of the city during the summer months, and to Mayor Donovan for a band concert in West Centralville on a recent Sunday afternoon.

The "Centralville station, Lowell, Mass." Henry J. Makure, of 31 Florence avenue, a clerk in charge of the night mail of present, will act as superintendent of the Centralville station. He is regarded as an experienced and efficient official and will direct Centralville affairs under the supervision of Postmaster Delisle. The new station will serve the entire Centralville section and direct with the exception of Collinsville, which has a postoffice of its own. The personnel will include two clerks, eleven city carriers and three R.R.D. carriers. The clerks' offices are temporary. Permanent appointments will be made on Oct. 1. The working hours will be from 8 a. m. until 7 p. m.

in costumes of the Revolutionary period the principals in the selection presented a dignified and extremely pretty picture, which met with instant approval from the spectators. Each of the other numbers was equally well executed and the entire performance proved an unsurpassed success.

In her characterization of "The Spirit of Americanization," Miss Eleanor Pitts proved a decided hit, and admirably balanced the program from beginning to end. A graceful and accomplished dancer, she introduced the several features in pleasing style and appeared to extraordinary advantage in the grand finale, a patriotic number by the entire ensemble.

After a dance by Miss Madeline Finnegan, a dream waltz by the Finnegan sisters and a Spanish number by Miss Anna Barrett, were other outstanding features, which enhanced the production and added to its success, the greatest in local playground history.

MADE MISTAKE IN DATE

Through an error in the records of the city council, representatives of the various local public corporations made an unnecessary trip to city hall late yesterday afternoon. Some time ago the city council, at the request of Councilor Cosgrove voted to hold a conference with representatives of the Lowell Electric Light Corp., New England Telephone Co., Postal Telegraph Co., and Western Union Telegraph Co., as well as with the members of the public service board and inspector of wires, and Tuesday, Sept. 4 was set as the date for the conference.

The public service board was notified of the council's action, but the notice stated that the conference was to be arranged by the board, and at last Saturday's meeting of the board, Thursday, August 30, was set as the date and the various corporations were notified. All the corporations but the Western Union Telegraph Co. sent representatives to the hall late yesterday afternoon. Councilors Cosgrove and Bailey were also present. The men were called together by Mr. Leary, secretary of the board, in the absence of Chairman Murphy, but Councilor Cosgrove pointed out that there must be a mistake somewhere as the conference was scheduled for Sept. 4, and not before the public service board but before the council.

The matter was agreed at length and it was finally agreed to hold the conference in the early part of October and Councilor Cosgrove stated that he will so inform the council. The conference was to discuss the matter of placing all wires underground in order to relieve the city of unsightly poles.

At 4:30 o'clock the board held a regular meeting. The following bids were opened for the printing of the 1922 annual report of the water works department: F. A. M. Tobin printers, $275; Shaw Stocking Co., $285 per page; Buckland Printing Co., $290; and Butterfield Printing Co., $350. It was stated that the 1921 report was printed by the Shaw Stocking Co. at a cost of

The Non-commissioned Officers' Association of the organized Reserves voted last night to lend their aid in whatever way is possible to make the reception to Henry Sullivan a success, when the world-famed swimmer returns to his home in this city from England.

The general chairman of the committee in charge of Sullivan's reception, James J. Bruin, together with Edward J. Conroy of the publicity committee, attended last night's meeting and outlined the plans already formulated for the welcome home celebration.

There was a good deal of enthusiasm shown by the members and all agreed to do their bit to make the event one long to be remembered in the annals of Lowell. Maj. Francis J. Tooley, executive officer of the association, was named as the association's representative on the general committee.

The meeting was presided over by Vice-President Sargent and a report was received on the committee on by-laws. The matter of forming a bowling league this winter was also discussed.

It was voted to hold the first rifle shoot on Sept. 22 as the rifle team of the non-commissioned officers is now at full quota. Its members are: Sgt. Eli Hart, J. J. Connors, Ralph Mason, Charles A. O'Neil, C. H. Dundas, J. A. Dalka, Manuel Torres, James P. Flannery, Anthony Mella, Antonio Puriato, Archie Larne, Albert Sturges, William Miller, Fred Taylor, Lester Ward, R. E. Fells, R. E. Root, M. E. George, H. D. Sanbury, Lester J. Ward, Fred Taylor and M. Torres.

The officers' rifle team is still open for enrollment and the Reserves wish that the following officers get in touch with the committee in charge as soon as they possibly can: Capt. Jackson Palmer, Maj. O. Palmer, Maj. Percy J. Wilson, Capt. Joseph A. Molloy and Lieut. E. Erwin. The members of the committee in charge are: Sgt. J. J. Connors, T. J. Kimball and Mark Flannery.

DESERTED SHACK GUTTED BY FIRE

Boys playing with matches in an old deserted shack near the corner of Lakeview avenue and West street are believed to have been responsible for the fire that broke out there. The shack is located in a field quite a distance from any house and the fire had gained considerable headway before it was discovered. A telephone alarm was sent in to the fire station at 12:15 o'clock but the inside of the shack was gutted before the apparatus arrived.

A dump pile on the Fair Grounds was responsible for a telephone alarm at 12:21 this afternoon. It was necessary to flood the dump with water before the fire was extinguished.

It was voted to defer action on the award of the contract. Supt. Gardner of the water works department was authorized to call for bids for the repair of the pipe in the leading in the Cook wells. The meeting adjourned at 4:10 o'clock until next Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

PLANNING EXPERTS INVITED TO LOWELL

Arthur A. Shurtleff of Boston, an expert in city planning, will address the public of Lowell at a public meeting to be held at the Memorial Auditorium next month.

It is probable that Edwin T. Hartman, another expert city planner of Lexington, will also be heard at the same meeting.

The proposed meeting was discussed at length at a special meeting of the city planning board held in the mayor's reception room at city hall last evening. Present at the meeting were Chairman Patrick O'Hearn, Secretary R. M. Humphrey, Dr. G. O. Lavalley, Michael A. Lee, B. J. Fournier and Francis A. Connor.

Mr. O'Hearn read a letter from Mr. Shurtleff in which he recommended that the services of Mr. Hartman be secured for the public meeting as the latter is a planning expert, who has interviewed 42 of the 62 planning boards of the state. The chairman and secretary of the board were authorized to communicate with both Messrs. Shurtleff and Hartman and determine whether or not both will be able to speak in Lowell and what dates they have available.

There was no action taken on the petition for the erection of a bill board at the junction of Perkins and Tucker streets, which was referred to the board by the council. In explanation it was stated the authority of the board in that respect has not yet been defined.

It was announced that of the 1200 questionnaires mailed to residents of the city by the board more than 500 have been returned. Another batch of 2,000 will be placed in the mail in the early part of next week.

MECHANIC "PHALANX" ASSOCIATION SHOOT

At the meeting of the Mechanic "Phalanx" association held at the armory, last evening, final arrangements were made for the annual "shoot" of the organization to be held at the Dracut range tomorrow, Sept. 1.

Communications were read from Congressman Rogers and Mayor Donovan signifying their intention to be present. Prizes have been donated by all the leading merchants in the city in addition to many others from friends of the "phalanx."

An argument of long standing will be ended on Saturday when two of the oldest members of the organization will meet in a match to decide which is the best marksman. These two men, C. Oliver Barnes and Thomas Boucher are Civil war veterans. There will be automobiles furnished for the transportation of other Civil war veterans to and from the range.

The matches will start at 2 p. m. and dinner will be served at 5 p. m. There will be refreshments served in past events, between the matches. Besides Congressman Rogers and Mayor Donovan invitations have been sent to the city council and others.

LOWELL BOYS HONOR AT HOLY CROSS

DUFFS ARE COMING BACK NEXT WEEK

Walter Allman, creator of the comic strip, "Doings of the Duffs," is back on the job, after an illness of several weeks.

And Tom, Helen, Danny, Bett Jane, Olivia, Wilbur and Dori are back with him. Hence the "Doings of the Duffs" will appear again next week.
